Goldberg Says Carswell 'Not Fit' For High Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former Supreme Court justice has declared Judge G. Harrold Carswell "is not fit" to serve on the high court.

Arthur J. Goldberg, who seeks the Democratic nomination for governor of New York, broke a long silence on the Carswell nomination when asked if he considered President Nixon's nominee qualified.

The former Supreme Court justice made the statement Sunday on NBC's "Meet the Press."

Sen. Fred Harris, D-Okla., today was expected to call for the return of Carswell's nomination to the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Harris, who first made the suggestion Sunday on the Metromedia Radio News program "Profile," planned to repeat the plea in a speech on the Senate floor. Harris said the committee should have the opportunity to question a former associate of Carswell in the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals who declined to support the nominee.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, announced today he will vote against confirmation of Carswell. That brought to 25 the

Ohio Assembly Faces Action On Major Bills

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The 108th General Assembly reconvenes tonight with hopes of getting two measures on the way to the governor's office for signing.

Both have gone through both houses but need Senate concurrence on House amendments. The Senate will vote on concurrence as the first item on the agenda.

One is a bill to restrict service station promotion giveaways and the other is a resolution that would put a homestead exemption for the elderly proposal on the Nov. 4 ballot.

Both houses are scheduled to go into session at 4 p.m. They will recess at noon Wednesday for the Easter Holiday.

The Senate tonight is scheduled to vote on a bill to end the county sales tax on motor vehicles now in use in three counties and replace it with a county use tax.

The main purpose of the bill is to prevent residents of Lake, Cuyahoga and Miami counties from avoiding the one-half per cent tax by buying their cars elsewhere.

Committee action during the week will center in the Senate, where several recently - passed House bills are awaiting action.

Among them is a bill to create a Division of Law Enforcement within the attorney general's office. Its purpose would be to fight organized crime.

The administration's air pollution control bill, a drug control bill, and the controversial usury law bill are among them.

The usury bill, which passed the House after a long struggle, would exempt VA and FHA loans from Ohio law limiting interest to 8 per cent.

The federal government a few months ago upped the interest rate on such loans to 8.5 per cent and Ohio's mortgage bankers contend they cannot compete in the market on the loans because of the 8 per cent limitation.

U.S. Officials Fear Loss Of Laos Base

WASHINGTON (AP) — High ranking U.S. officers say the loss of the key Laotian base town of Long Cheng would seriously reduce the effectiveness of the most reliable troops fighting the North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao.

Long Cheng, 80 miles north of the administrative capital of Vientiane, is a logistical, administrative and political center for the anti-Communist Meo tribal army, which American military leaders say rates as "a pretty high blue chip on our side."

The Meos, headed by Gen. Vang Pao, are credited with doing most of the effective fighting against the North Vietnamese-Pathet Lao over the past several years.

Without them, there would be little left but the unreliable Royal Lao Army—unless there is more help from the outside.

According to the view of U.S. officials in Washington, impairment of the Meo's effectiveness would put the pro-Communist Pathet Lao in their best political position in eight years of off-and-on fighting and enhance their position in a possible negotiated settlement with the present Laotian government.

Senior U.S. military officers, some of whom have had years of experience in Southeast Asia, were rather slow in acknowledging the current Communist offensive may be more serious than in past years.

There is no uniformity of opinion yet on just what the North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao are up to this year.

YESTERDAYS — Not all yesterdays were long ago. With spring just one-day-old, winter precipitation quietly entered the area Sunday to momentarily present this picture to local residents. According to the current weather forecast, it may be repeated today. If so, may this gasp be the last.

SPELLING CHAMPS — The top three competitors for the spelling championship of Teays Valley, Logan Elm and Westfall school districts held their final spelldown Saturday. Wyatt Fraas, center rear, is being congratulated by Superintendent George McDowell for scoring highest on the examination. Wyatt Fraas Wins Spelling Contest

Wyatt Fraas was named spelling champion for all county school districts following a final elimination examination Saturday.

Wyatt, an eighth grader in Monroe Twp. school, was a representative of the Westfali District, scoring forty out of fifty words correctly on the local test. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Fraas.

Saundra Strawser, a seventh grader from Pickaway Twp., sought the title for the Logan Elm District. She ranked second place and will serve as alternate to the state spelling match. Saundra is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Strawser.

Teays Valley's entrant, Teresa Stebelton, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Stebelton and an eighth grader at Walnut Twp. elementary.

The final competition was held early Saturday in the office of the County Superintendent George McDowell at the courthouse. Mrs. Opal Sims, elementary supervisor, presented the 50-word examination to the students.

As top speller in the county Wyatt will go on to final competition at the Citizen Journal Spelling Bee to be held May 2 at Ohio State University in Columbus, where students, grades five through eight, will be in competition for the state title.

Army Opens Hearings On Atrocities

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Army investigators begin hearings at Ft. McPherson here today on charges filed against three soldiers in connection with alleged atrocities against Vietnamese civilians.

Newsmen and the general public were barred.

The hearings, similar to grand jury proceedings in a civilian case, are to determine whether the men will face court-martial.

Hearings on charges against Sgt. Charles E. Hutto, 21, of Tallulah, La.; and Pvt. Mac D. Hutson, 22, of Attica, Ind., begin today.

A hearing is scheduled Tuesday on charges against Sgt. Esequiel Torres, 21, of Brownsville, Tex.

The charges stem from the alleged massacre at the village of My Lai in March, 1968, and a separate incident in the area around the same time.

Hutto is charged with rape, murder, assault with intent to commit murder and false swearing.

Hutson is charged with rape, murder and assault with intent to commit murder.

Torres is charged with two counts of murder and assault with intent to commit murder.

Souvanna Accuses North Viets Of Building Strength

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Premier Souvanna Phouma accused North Vietnam today of sending 13,000 more troops into Laos recently, supported by tanks, rockets and long-range guns, to further Hanoi's "expansionist and ideological" aims.

Speaking on the 20th anniversary of the Royal Laotian army, Prince Souvanna said North Vietnamese forces had "captured for the Pathet Lao an area which unequivocally belongs to the neutralist forces."

He presumably was referring to the Plain of Jars, which the neutralist faction he heads controlled in the early 1960s with Pathet Lao consent. After Souvanna became head of the government and the United States became his chief backer, the North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao took over the strategic plain in northeast Laos. They lost it last September to a guerrilla army trained and supported by the United States, then recaptured it in the offensive they began last month.

Souvanna said his government had called on the government which signed the 1962 Geneva agreement guaranteeing Laotian neutrality to confer among themselves to find "a common and just solution to the Lao problem."

The Premier said his government had received the five-point Pathet Lao peace proposal "with the most attentive welcome, faithful as we are to the principles of a political settlement in justice and honor to our national dilemma."

No further North Vietnamese advance was reported in the area of Long Cheng, the headquarters 80 miles north of Vientiane of Gen. Vang Pao's guerrilla army. The North Vietnamese hit the base with about a dozen rockets Sunday, the third day they made such an attack, but no casualties or damage were reported.

The U.S. Command in Saigon said a U.S. Air Force OV10 Bronco was shot down over the Plain of Jars Saturday, but the pilot was rescued unhurt. The command announced the loss of two more planes over the upper panhandle of Laos, but they apparently were operating against North Vietnamese forces on the Ho Chi Minh trail and not in support of Laotian government forces.

President's School Speech Not To Slow Desegregation

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top administration civil rights official says President Nixon's promised "comprehensive analysis" on school desegregation cannot have much effect on efforts to integrate classrooms.

Jerris Leonard, chief of the Justice Department's Civil Rights Division, said Sunday:

"Really, irrespective of what anybody says about it, the legal process is in motion and it's going to be accomplished at least for all practical purposes.

"Therefore, there's little the President can do by saying something to speed it up. It just can't be done any faster."

In a Saturday session with newsmen, Nixon promised his policy statement Tuesday on desegregation will be "the most comprehensive analysis of the legal situation and also of the problems of segregation" since the historic 1954 Supreme Court order to end segregated schools.

Leonard said the President's statement "certainly will not in any way inhibit the progress that we have tried to make over the past 14 months in enforcing the school desegregation laws."

But, he went on, "There's not such a thing as a clarion call that sets one and only one standard, a direction, one approach to a very difficult problem that must be analyzed on a case by case and individual by individual school district."

Following this line, the Justice official said statewide desegregation suits are being considered now against North Carolina, South Carolina, Arkansas, Mississippi and Florida.

Doomsday for separate black-white school systems is next September, he said, and "it's obvious that some rather massive activity is going to have to take place between now and then."

Earlier in the weekend, James Farmer, the administration's highest ranking Negro, said the President's statement would put to rest any idea that the administration has backed away from integration.

"I have seen parts of the speech," Farmer said, "and I look with anticipation to the statement in the next week that the President will make."

Chartered Bus Topples On Side

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — A chartered bus slid off Ohio 83 east of Warren and toppled onto its side Sunday night, but state patrolmen said the vehicle's driver and 23 passengers apparently escaped serious injury.

Patrolmen said the bus, traveling from Clearfield, Pa., to Cleveland Hopkins International Airport, went out of control in slushy road conditions on Ohio 82 two miles east of Ohio 46.

Solons Study Rail Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress resumes hearings today in the deadlocked nationwide railroad labor dispute that could erupt in another coast-to-coast strike threat April 11.

Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz has been called to testify before the House Commerce Committee on the dispute involving four AFL-CIO unions that represent some 45,000 shopcraft workers.

A nationwide strike would throw all 575,000 rail workers off the job and quickly paralyze many other industries dependent on rail supply.

Congress hastily enacted a 37-day strike ban to head off a strike threat March 4, expiring April 11, and urged negotiators to seek a peaceful settlement.

But two attempts of the Nixon administration to get negotiations going again flopped when the key union blocking a settlement, the Sheet Metal Workers, refused to attend.

Red Powers Use Sihanouk As A Pawn

TOKYO, (AP) — Moscow and Peking appear to have struck a hard bargain with Cambodia's Prince Norodom Sihanouk: revolution in his critically-situated country in exchange for board, lodging and support.

Ousted as chief of state by unanimous vote of the Royal National Assembly—all members of his own Sangkum party—Sihanouk has announced he will spend his exile in the Chinese and Soviet capitals at Communist expense.

A clue as to what he gave in exchange was noted in statements the prince made over the weekend, following talks with Chinese Premier Chou En-lai and possibly Vassily Kuznetsov, Soviet deputy foreign minister now in Peking.

Sihanouk said he recognizes that his day has passed and that he is ready to give up what he described as the worthless title of chief of state.

But he asked for a chance to hold onto it for one last act—"to completely make room for those who naturally deserve the honor of taking upon themselves alone the destiny of the motherland in the community of progressive nations."

In Communist Jargon, "progressive nations" are either Communist or fellow-traveling.

As Sihanouk outlined it, the new progressive Cambodia will be "truly rooted in the people, that is to say, the mass of peasants, workers, other working people and young intellectuals."

This blueprint for the Cambodian future was viewed as strangely out of character coming from the man who has exercised almost total personal rule since the end of World War II.

Neither the Chinese nor the Russians have any great love for Sihanouk. But his present plight offers them a chance to play the game of Marxist-Leninist dialectics. History, in their eyes, is the progressive application of contradictions which advance mankind toward Communism.

New Penitentiary Behind Schedule

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Construction of the new Ohio Penitentiary at Lucasville in Scioto County is at least five months behind schedule, according to state officials.

The $30 million facility, originally scheduled for completion on Jan. 1, 1971, now will not be ready for occupancy at least until June 1971.

The delay is blamed partly on bad weather and strikes. Another reason is that a gymnasium and kitchen-dining facility previously deleted from building plans have been reinstated.

State Architect Carl E. Bentz said construction work may not be completed entirely by June 1971, but the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction should be able to start transferring prisoners there by that time.

TV Talk Lashes Illegal Work Stoppage

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today ordered the use of troops to move the strike-bound mail in New York City.

Nixon said New York City is where the problem has become the most acute.

"These replacements are being sent in as a supplementary work force to maintain basic services," he said, adding that they would be withdrawn as the striking postal workers return to their jobs.

"I have just now directed the activation of the men of the various military organizations to begin in New York City the restoration of essential mail services," Nixon said in a broadcast report to the nation.

The President said he also has instructed Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell to take whatever action is necessary against illegal picketing which would interfere with the return of workers willing to go back to their jobs.

In ordering the use of military men to handle the mail in New York, Nixon said that is where the strike began, where the service has been halted the longest.

"We cannot and we will not negotiate while thousands of workers are participating in an illegal work stoppage . . ." Nixon said.

"I urge you to return to your jobs," he said, "so that these negotiations can begin . . ."

In comments he said were addressed to both working and striking postal workers, Nixon named various groups of people—veterans, the elderly, businessmen, soldiers in Vietnam and others—who depend on the mails.

Nixon said he had recognized ever since he came to Congress that postal workers are underpaid and have legitimate grievances.

He said since he took office as President, he and Postmaster General Winton M. Blount have worked to reform the post office. They have asked for increased pay, more benefits, quicker rises in grade level.

"If the current postal reform had become law, we wouldn't have this crisis," he declared.

"I am asking for the understanding and support of every American in this decision I have made on behalf of our country," Nixon concluded. He spoke for about seven minutes.

Nixon said the issue goes beyond the question of mail service.

"What has occurred here is that some employes of the federal government have gone against . . . the oath of office they took, orders handed down by federal courts and cutting off service to thousands of Americans," he said.

The issue, he said, is the "survival of a government based upon law."

The postal workers strike continued to expand today in northeastern Ohio, with more than 8,000 letter carriers and postal clerks off the job.

Some 4,300 members of the United Federation of Postal Clerks joined the strike in Greater Cleveland after shouting down back-to-work pleas at a meeting of Local 72 Sunday night.

Since most offices in northeastern Ohio route mail through the downtown Cleveland station, the strike by Local 72 was expected to virtually halt mail service to the area.

Some 2,900 members of the National Association of Letter Carriers already are on strike in Cleveland.

Red Guns Down More U.S. Planes, Copters

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy gunners shot down two more U.S. Air Force planes over Laos and four Army helicopters over South Vietnam, the U.S. Command announced today. Three men were killed, two are missing and two were wounded.

The two planes, an F4 Phantom jet and an A1 Skyraider, were shot down Thursday and Saturday over the northern part of the Laotian panhandle while operating against North Vietnamese forces along the Ho Chi Minh Trail to South Vietnam.

One of the Phantom's two crewmen was rescued, but the other and the pilot of the Skyraider are missing. A total of 10 American planes have been reported lost over Laos in the two weeks since the U.S. Command began announcing American losses over Laos. Most of them were attacking North Vietnamese forces on the Ho Chi Minh Trail, but some were operating in support of Laotian government forces.

Sunday was the second day this month in which four American helicopters were reported shot down in South Vietnam, the other being March 6. Three crewmen were killed and two wounded in the crashes Sunday.

A total of 3,481 American helicopters have been reported lost in The Vietnam war.

Near Saigon Sunday night a terrorist grenade exploded at a Buddhist pray-for-peace meeting, killing 14 women and children and wounding 20 other people, according to government spokesmen.

The grenade exploded in the midst of a crowd of nearly 400 persons praying in a courtyard at Hoc Mon, a district town seven miles northwest of Saigon.

South Vietnamese military spokesmen said the terrorist who threw the grenade was believed to have been a woman who escaped in the confusion.

The casualties at Hoc Mon were the worst in a recent wave of terrorist bombings, primarily centered in Saigon. There have been half a dozen such incidents in the city in the past eight days.

Hoc Mon officials told Associated Press photographer Dang Van Phuoc the grenade exploded in front of a Buddhist pagoda facing the courtyard where Buddhists had gathered to pray for peace.

The most seriously wounded were evacuated by U.S. Army helicopters to Saigon. The rest

U.S. Officials Fear Loss Of Laos Base

WASHINGTON (AP) — High ranking U.S. officers say the loss of the key Laotian base town of Long Cheng would seriously reduce the effectiveness of the most reliable troops fighting the North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao.

He presumably was referring to the Plain of Jars, which the neutralist faction he heads controlled in the early 1960s with Pathet Lao consent. After Souvanna became head of the government and the United States became his chief backer, the North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao took over the strategic plain in northeast Laos. They lost it last September to a guerrilla army trained and supported by the United States, then recaptured it in the offensive they began last month.

Souvanna said his government had called on the government which signed the 1962 Geneva agreement guaranteeing Laotian neutrality to confer among themselves to find "a common and just solution to the Lao problem."

The Premier said his government had received the five-point Pathet Lao peace proposal "with the most attentive welcome, faithful as we are to the principles of a political settlement in justice and honor to our national dilemma."

No further North Vietnamese advance was reported in the area of Long Cheng, the headquarters 80 miles north of Vientiane of Gen. Vang Pao's guerrilla army. The North Vietnamese hit the base with about a dozen rockets Sunday, the third day they made such an attack, but no casualties or damage were reported.

The U.S. Command in Saigon said a U.S. Air Force OV10 Bronco was shot down over the Plain of Jars Saturday, but the pilot was rescued unhurt. The command announced the loss of two more planes over the upper panhandle of Laos, but they apparently were operating against North Vietnamese forces on the Ho Chi Minh trail and not in support of Laotian government forces.

President's School Speech Not To Slow Desegregation

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top administration civil rights official says President Nixon's promised "comprehensive analysis" on school desegregation cannot have much effect on efforts to integrate classrooms.

Jerris Leonard, chief of the Justice Department's Civil Rights Division, said Sunday:

"Really, irrespective of what anybody says about it, the legal process is in motion and it's going to be accomplished at least for all practical purposes.

"Therefore, there's little the President can do by saying something to speed it up. It just can't be done any faster."

In a Saturday session with newsmen, Nixon promised his policy statement Tuesday on desegregation will be "the most comprehensive analysis of the legal situation and also of the problems of segregation" since the historic 1954 Supreme Court order to end segregated schools.

Leonard said the President's statement "certainly will not in any way inhibit the progress that we have tried to make over the past 14 months in enforcing the school desegregation laws."

But, he went on, "There's not such a thing as a clarion call that sets one and only one standard, a direction, one approach to a very difficult problem that must be analyzed on a case by case and individual by individual school district."

Following this line, the Justice official said statewide desegregation suits are being considered now against North Carolina, South Carolina, Arkansas, Mississippi and Florida.

Doomsday for separate black-white school systems is next September, he said, and "it's obvious that some rather massive activity is going to have to take place between now and then."

Earlier in the weekend, James Farmer, the administration's highest ranking Negro, said the President's statement would put to rest any idea that the administration has backed away from integration.

"I have seen parts of the speech," Farmer said, "and I look with anticipation to the statement in the next week that the President will make."

Chartered Bus Topples On Side

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — A chartered bus slid off Ohio 83 east of Warren and toppled onto its side Sunday night, but state patrolmen said the vehicle's driver and 23 passengers apparently escaped serious injury.

Patrolmen said the bus, traveling from Clearfield, Pa., to Cleveland Hopkins International Airport, went out of control in slushy road conditions on Ohio 82 two miles east of Ohio 46.

Solons Study Rail Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress resumes hearings today in the deadlocked nationwide railroad labor dispute that could erupt in another coast-to-coast strike threat April 11.

Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz has been called to testify before the House Commerce Committee on the dispute involving four AFL-CIO unions that represent some 45,000 shopcraft workers.

A nationwide strike would throw all 575,000 rail workers off the job and quickly paralyze many other industries dependent on rail supply.

Congress hastily enacted a 37-day strike ban to head off a strike threat March 4, expiring April 11, and urged negotiators to seek a peaceful settlement.

But two attempts of the Nixon administration to get negotiations going again flopped when the key union blocking a settlement, the Sheet Metal Workers, refused to attend.

Red Guns Down More U.S. Planes, Copters

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy gunners shot down two more U.S. Air Force planes over Laos and four Army helicopters over South Vietnam, the U.S. Command announced today. Three men were killed, two are missing and two were wounded.

The two planes, an F4 Phantom jet and an A1 Skyraider, were shot down Thursday and Saturday over the northern part of the Laotian panhandle while operating against North Vietnamese forces along the Ho Chi Minh Trail to South Vietnam.

One of the Phantom's two crewmen was rescued, but the other and the pilot of the Skyraider are missing. A total of 10 American planes have been reported lost over Laos in the two weeks since the U.S. Command began announcing American losses over Laos. Most of them were attacking North Vietnamese forces on the Ho Chi Minh Trail, but some were operating in support of Laotian government forces.

Sunday was the second day this month in which four American helicopters were reported shot down in South Vietnam, the other being March 6. Three crewmen were killed and two wounded in the crashes Sunday.

A total of 3,481 American helicopters have been reported lost in The Vietnam war.

Near Saigon Sunday night a terrorist grenade exploded at a Buddhist pray-for-peace meeting, killing 14 women and children and wounding 20 other people, according to government spokesmen.

The grenade exploded in the midst of a crowd of nearly 400 persons praying in a courtyard at Hoc Mon, a district town seven miles northwest of Saigon.

South Vietnamese military spokesmen said the terrorist who threw the grenade was believed to have been a woman who escaped in the confusion.

The casualties at Hoc Mon were the worst in a recent wave of terrorist bombings, primarily centered in Saigon. There have been half a dozen such incidents in the city in the past eight days.

Hoc Mon officials told Associated Press photographer Dang Van Phuoc the grenade exploded in front of a Buddhist pagoda facing the courtyard where Buddhists had gathered to pray for peace.

The most seriously wounded were evacuated by U.S. Army helicopters to Saigon. The rest

Mrs. Sarah Carithers, center director, accepted the gift for the community action group, along with Mayor Richard Gerhardt, president of Community Action board of trustees.

Circleville RCA Plant Personnel Manager J. G. VanDermark Jr. and C. P. Pfleeger, manager of glass operations, today presented a color TV set to PICCA Day Care Center.

The RCA donation was made in cooperation with the Children's Television Workshop campaign to place television sets in day care centers throughout the country.

The sets will enable preschool children at the centers to watch and benefit from the new educational entertainment series, "Sesame Street", designed specifically for them.

RCA is donating 150 color TV sets which are being distributed to 56 cities in 18 states. The initial gift sets are distributed by RCA plants and distributors throughout the country.

Some Carriers . .

In Lorain, where 90 per cent of the letter carriers voted at a meeting Friday night to strike today, some 125 letter carriers were affected.

In the Akron suburb of Cuyahoga Falls, postal clerks and letter carriers voted Sunday to continue their strike but agreed to handle emergency mail, such as government checks, and letters to and from Vietnam, if the postal authorities want them to.

In Cincinnati, letter carriers who struck Saturday were expected to return to work today.

In Columbus, members of Branch 78 of the Letter Carriers Association voted to go along with national leaders and hold off on a strike for five days.

Nixon, who kept abreast of the situation over the weekend in his special quarters in the Executive Office Building, had threatened to take emergency action today if a majority of workers remained off the job.

The threat was interpreted to mean Nixon would call in troops to handle the mails and officials spent Sunday preparing plans for using National Guard and regular Army units to run the post offices.

James Rademacher, president of the letter carriers' union, however, predicted Sunday 90 per cent of the nation's postal workers would be back to work today.

A Post Office Department spokesman said there were seven postal regions where no employes were on strike. They were listed as Atlanta, Ga.; Dallas, Texas; Memphis, Tenn.; St. Louis, Mo.; Seattle, Wash.; Washington, D.C. and Wichita, Kan.

Both the administration and Congress had said negotiations would not begin on strikers' demands for more money until most services were restored.

Some delivery embargoes were lifted in the East and Midwest after workers returned to their posts.

You Can't Wish Yourself Well!

Many people stay half sick and half well nearly all the time, grunting and wishing for health.

"If wishes were horses, beggars would ride," as the old saying goes. If you are sick you have to have hope, faith, and above all, a desire to get well — a desire strong enough to make you investigate EVERY possibility.

On the other hand, many people stay sick because they are confused, or become disgusted when everything they try fails to help.

We find the average sufferer has been diagnosed, treated or operated, and steered from office to office, only to find that as one ailment is patched up trouble starts somewhere else.

It is discouraging when you spend your time and money in a sincere effort to get well and yet nothing seems to help. Things lose their importance and life becomes miserable!

It is difficult to be a good wife, mother, father, husband, son, daughter, or grandparents when sick and miserable.

While such chronic cases are always a challenge, it is a much greater thrill and gives us more confidence to watch these unfortunates take a new lease on life, once we untangle their scrambled nerve lines, allowing Nature to restore normal function and heal. Thousands of successful case histories on file are proof positive evidence that sick people get well under chiropractic care — many times after other methods fails.

Each week we offer a message of hope to discouraged sick folks by writing about how many regain their health. But chiropractic can't help YOU unless you give it the opportunity.

Does it give you courage to learn that a retired registered nurse, past sixty, recovered from headaches, indigestion, constipation, shoulder bursitis and traces of arthritis that she had been suffering for years.

Chiropractic may be your answer too. But you can't just WISH for it.

The chiropractic profession recommends regular chiropractic care.

Presented in the public interest for better health through chiropractic by the Circleville Chiropractic Center under the auspices of the Central Ohio Chiropractic Association.

Some Carriers . .

In Lorain, where 90 per cent of the letter carriers voted at a meeting Friday night to strike today, some 125 letter carriers were affected.

In the Akron suburb of Cuyahoga Falls, postal clerks and letter carriers voted Sunday to continue their strike but agreed to handle emergency mail, such as government checks, and letters to and from Vietnam, if the postal authorities want them to.

In Cincinnati, letter carriers who struck Saturday were expected to return to work today.

In Columbus, members of Branch 78 of the Letter Carriers Association voted to go along with national leaders and hold off on a strike for five days.

Nixon, who kept abreast of the situation over the weekend in his special quarters in the Executive Office Building, had threatened to take emergency action today if a majority of workers remained off the job.

The threat was interpreted to mean Nixon would call in troops to handle the mails and officials spent Sunday preparing plans for using National Guard and regular Army units to run the post offices.

James Rademacher, president of the letter carriers' union, however, predicted Sunday 90 per cent of the nation's postal workers would be back to work today.

A Post Office Department spokesman said there were seven postal regions where no employes were on strike. They were listed as Atlanta, Ga.; Dallas, Texas; Memphis, Tenn.; St. Louis, Mo.; Seattle, Wash.; Washington, D.C. and Wichita, Kan.

Both the administration and Congress had said negotiations would not begin on strikers' demands for more money until most services were restored.

Some delivery embargoes were lifted in the East and Midwest after workers returned to their posts.

You Can't Wish Yourself Well!

CHIROPRACTIC · HEAD · HEART · HANDS

Many people stay half sick and half well nearly all the time, grunting and wishing for health.

"If wishes were horses, beggars would ride," as the old saying goes. If you are sick you have to have hope, faith, and above all, a desire to get well — a desire strong enough to make you investigate EVERY possibility.

On the other hand, many people stay sick because they are confused, or become disgusted when everything they try fails to help.

We find the average sufferer has been diagnosed, treated or operated, and steered from office to office, only to find that as one ailment is patched up trouble starts somewhere else.

It is discouraging when you spend your time and money in a sincere effort to get well and yet nothing seems to help. Things lose their importance and life becomes miserable!

It is difficult to be a good wife, mother, father, husband, son, daughter, or grandparents when sick and miserable.

While such chronic cases are always a challenge, it is a much greater thrill and gives us more confidence to watch these unfortunates take a new lease on life, once we untangle their scrambled nerve lines, allowing Nature to restore normal function and heal. Thousands of successful case histories on file are proof positive evidence that sick people get well under chiropractic care — many times after other methods fails.

Each week we offer a message of hope to discouraged sick folks by writing about how many regain their health. But chiropractic can't help YOU unless you give it the opportunity.

Does it give you courage to learn that a retired registered nurse, past sixty, recovered from headaches, indigestion, constipation, shoulder bursitis and traces of arthritis that she had been suffering for years.

Chiropractic may be your answer too. But you can't just WISH for it.

The chiropractic profession recommends regular chiropractic care.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Wife Speaks Out On Fidelity

DEAR ABBY: The women in our small club were having a frank discussion about husbands stepping out, and I made the statement that I could forgive my husband if I caught him stepping out on me (I mean a one-night stand, not a serious affair of any duration), but I wouldn't put up with his spending money on another woman when there were things his family needed.

They all thought I was some kind of nut. Please don't misunderstand, Abby. I wouldn't encourage my husband to step out on me, but as long as I get my share of affection at home, I don't see why I should throw him out if he has a little extra fun at no expense to his family. But with money, it's a different story. Just let him deprive me or the children of anything money can buy because he spent it on another woman, and I'd lock him out. How do you feel about this, Abby?

MARGE

DEAR MARGE: For the first 50 years I'd demand 100 per cent fidelity. After that, I'd be a little more generous.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have some close friends. We have agreed to be the guardians for their children in case something happens to them, and they shall do the same for ours.

These people are dedicated to a religious movement in which teams of lay people spend the week-end in a church, leading prayer groups and church services.

We have a lot of respect and admiration for their devotion to their religion, but do not wish to participate.

So far, we have always been able to come up with a valid excuse for not accepting their invitations to go to these church meetings, but we fear the day when we've run out of excuses, and there will be a showdown.

How can we get out of going and still maintain our friendship with these people?

KENTUCKIANS

DEAR KENTUCKIANS: Don't wait for a showdown. Tell your friends that you do not care to participate in their religious activities. If you are sufficiently "close" for a reciprocal guardianship agreement, it seems to me you should be able to speak candidly without fear of damaging your friendship.

DEAR ABBY: When I was 13 years old, two other girls and I were caught taking a few cheap items from the cosmetic counter of a department store. They took us to the manager's office and we had to give them our names and addresses. We were told that they were going to call our parents, but fortunately, they never did.

Of course we gave back everything we had taken, and we promised that we would never set foot in that store again, and I know, I never did. We also promised we'd never steal another thing. I kept that promise.

Now I am 22 years old and in filling out a job application, I understand the question "Have you ever been arrested" is asked. If I come across it, how should I answer?

SANTA ANA

DEAR SANTA ANA: Say NO. You were only caught and warned. That is not the same as being "arrested."

NEW YORK (AP) — A sprinkling of special programs seasoned the network schedules over the week-end, with two particularly worthy of comment.

The most fun for the viewer was the special with two big talents, Harry Belafonte and Lena Horne, complementing each other. Most interesting was a two-hour film feature on air pollution.

The Belafonte-Horne collaboration, an ABC hour Sunday night, was strictly a two-performer show, handled on a square stage of many levels and surrounded on three sides by an audience.

The stars more or less took turns singing, occasionally working together. With the exception of Miss Horne's "I Want To Be Happy," none of the numbers were familiar. There were ghetto songs, city - life songs, nostalgia songs, love songs, even a lullaby. Almost all of them more interesting for their content and presentation than for their tunes.

"A clear and present danger," in NBC's "World Premiere" series, tackled air pollution as an element of a dramatic show.

It was an interesting attempt, but came a cropper because the dramatist, like others worried about our environment, could come up with no satisfactory solution and because pollution is so much bigger than the personal conflict on which the story was hung.

Hal Holbrook played a senator's son with his own political ambitions who, upon visiting an industrial city, finds an old friend has died of emphysema, with the smoke and gas filled air of the community a conributing factor.

But at the end, the concerned believe that there is no solution."

NBC apparently thinks so highly of the idea of a fearless, idealistic politician that Holbrook will continue his role as one segment of "The Bold Ones" next season.

Also continued will be segments about doctors and lawyers. The portion of the trilogy involving a district attorney and a police official, co-starring Hari Rhodes and Leslie Nielsen, will be dropped.

The National Educational Network starts tonight four consecutive programs showing the trial last year of a member of the Black Panthers on a charge of resisting arrest.

The trial was held in Denver, Colo., where cameras are permitted in courtrooms. The series starts with the jury selection and ends four programs later with the verdict. It is, NET believes, the first TV report of a legal proceeding.

PUCO Will Oppose Train Service Cut

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio has announced it will take formal action this week with the Interstate Commerce Commission to oppose Penn Central's plans to discontinue 34 east-west long distance passenger trains, many of which serve Ohio.

The Penn Central's over - all plans to halt 48 trains would end all long-distance passenger service by the railroad west of Buffalo, N.Y., and Harrisburg, Pa., a PUCO spokesman said.

Hal Holbrook played a senator's son with his own political ambitions who, upon visiting an industrial city, finds an old friend has died of emphysema, with the smoke and gas filled air of the community a contributing factor.

But at the end, the concerned believe that there is no solution."

NBC apparently thinks so highly of the idea of a fearless, idealistic politician that Holbrook will continue his role as one segment of "The Bold Ones" next season.

Also continued will be segments about doctors and lawyers. The portion of the trilogy involving a district attorney and a police official, co-starring Hari Rhodes and Leslie Nielsen, will be dropped.

The National Educational Network starts tonight four consecutive programs showing the trial last year of a member of the Black Panthers on a charge of resisting arrest.

The trial was held in Denver, Colo., where cameras are permitted in courtrooms. The series starts with the jury selection and ends four programs later with the verdict. It is, NET believes, the first TV report of a legal proceeding.

PUCO Will Oppose Train Service Cut

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio has announced it will take formal action this week with the Interstate Commerce Commission to oppose Penn Central's plans to discontinue 34 east-west long distance passenger trains, many of which serve Ohio.

The Penn Central's over - all plans to halt 48 trains would end all long-distance passenger service by the railroad west of Buffalo, N.Y., and Harrisburg, Pa., a PUCO spokesman said.

Education On Drugs

Statistics disclose that narcotic addiction and illicit drug use is a disease of the young, and any campaign to eradicate the disease must be directed differently than it would be if the primary target were the adult population.

Washington's attack on the problem by stepping up federal efforts to train teachers, students and community leaders in narcotics abuse, and thereby provide them the tools of knowledge they need to reveal the dangers of drug experimentation, is a sound one.

"There is no priority higher," the President has said, "in this administration than to see that children and the public learn the facts about drugs in the right way and for the right purpose through education."

If that stated priority in fact becomes the yardstick by which the program of education is implemented, there is no reason why it should not be successful.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the ordeals of life is that sizes don't stay the same.

As soon as you get used to a size or an occasion that seems fitting, something happens to it. It changes.

It would seem pretty important that a size remain changeless. For example, how could we estimate the value of property we owned—or even find out just where it began or ended—if an inch yesterday weren't the same inch the day after tomorrow? Or if a foot refused to stay a foot long—and no more or less

Who could take pride in running a four-minute mile if someone haphazardly decided to shrink the length of the mile and at the same time extend the length of minutes and seconds? In time a tenderfoot Boy Scout would be able to limp a mile in less than two minutes on a stubbed toe.

Yet, although sizes are supposed to be standardized, something or someone always seems to be changing them.

Take the size of a $5 bill. You can measure it with a ruler and measure the size of a steak it would buy 10 years ago. Something has happened to the size of one or the other. In some restaurants the size of a steak that a $5 bill will buy can't even be measured accurately with a ruler. You need a micrometer.

How about that girl you married 20 years ago who bragged she wore a size 10 dress?

She still says she feels uncomfortable in anything larger than a size 10 dress. But if you took one of those dresses she buys and propped it up lengthwise with tentpoles, you could drive a Jeep through it without touching the sides. Does that mean the size of Jeeps is being miniaturized?

The problem is even worse in men's wear. Remember when a fellow felt comfortable in a shirt with a size 15 neck, a pair of size 9-C shoes, a 36-inch belt and a size 40 suit

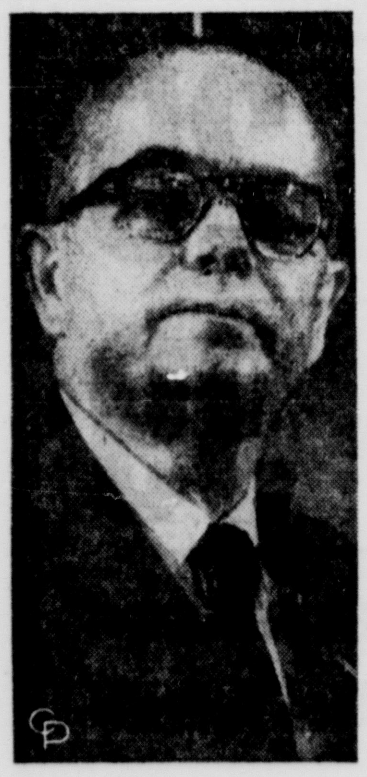
Well, today that same fellow—no more than 25 years older—feels pinched by a size 9½ pair of shoes, a size 44 suit, a size 40 belt and a size 16 shirt. He is uncomfortable from toenail to tonsil.

The real truth is that sizes aren't constant in any field anymore. Years feel shorter than they used to be, but many a day lasts interminably longer.

The size of wars appears to be even harder to figure. You get in one that you are assured is small, preventive economy-size war, and the next thing you know it is unmistakably bigger, doesn't appear particulary preventive, and is about as economical as bankruptcy.

Even the size of words has become confused. There was a time when a big deal was a big deal. But now when your wife says to you, "big deal!,"—well, you don't feel like a major wheel.

Unless some agency like the U.S. Bureaus of Standards can help us standardize our standards, how are we ever going to be able properly to size-up our size-ups?



RUNNING—Turned down by the U.S. Supreme Court in a bid to succeed himself in office, Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia announced in Atlanta that he will run for lieutenant governor, but has not yet decided which party.

Presidential Palace Half Way Cleaned

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Workmen set out one Sunday recently to clean up the dingy, gray Presidential Palace.

After several hours the lower half of the palace looked much better. The upper floors were still dirty — there was NOT enough pressure in the water hoses to reach them.

Harry M. Weldon, proclaimed by the Cincinnati Enquirer as the "prince of sports writers," was remembered in a special by that newspaper on the 25th anniversary of his death. A native of Circleville, Weldon was well known around the nation for his coverage of great prize ring events including the Sullivan-Corbet contest and the one-round encounter between Bob Fitzsimmons and Peter Maher.

The home of Wayne Lindsay on the Island Road near the Red River Bridge was destroyed by fire. The house, an old frame two story structure tied together with wooden pins, was built in the days when Circleville was a village. It had formerly stood on S. Court St., near Mill and later moved to the farm.

Harvey Sweyer, who operated a shoe store at 130 W. Main St., advertised good, rebuilt shoes for real economy. "If President Coolidge can ride in a public pullman car for economy," he said, "you can certainly walk in repaired shoes."

In a list of bills approved by county commissioners were the following: Fitzpatrick Printery, covers for probate judge — $2.25; Mrs. Arthur Miller, laundry — $3; Mrs. Clark Hunsicker, office rent—$20 and Thomas Rader and sons, coal for court house — $26.09.

Lists of letters not picked up by owners at the city post office were advertised in the Union-Herald by George P. Foresman, postmaster.

Mary Alice Bales, of Roundtown, attended the inaugration of President Coolidge in Washington with a party of students from Ward-Belmont College, Nashville, Tenn.

Trinity Lutheran Brotherhood held a debate at one of their sessions on whether a health certificate should be required before a marriage license was granted. Judges were Dr. C. E. Bowers, Charles L. Mack and J. D. Hummel, who decided by a vote of two to one, that the certificate should not be required.

Clark's 5 & 10 cent store advertised special men's $2.25 pants for only $1.59. The sale would only last a few days, but Clark's promised the pants would last for years.

New postal rates were announced by the government, raising post cards to two cents, and putting a service charge on all parcels except those from rural routes.

Eye care and glasses fitting was a service of the L. M. Butch Co., jeweler and Optometrist, West Main St.

Dr. Gay L. Hitler, reported that it only took him an hour and a half to land six fine bass in Scippo Creek. One hour was used for catching the minnows, 15 minutes to go to his "sunfish hole" and 15 minutes to make the catch.

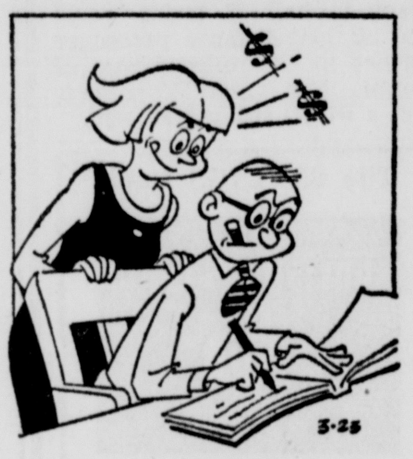
"Why is it every time we discuss something, you have to put in your two cents' worth?"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

WHEN a quiz master asked a lady contestant to name her favorite author, she blandly replied, "My husband." Takes aback, the game master asked, "Your husband? What does he write?" The lady answered "Checks."

* * *



In his best-selling biography, "Huey Long," the eminent historian T. Harry Williams tells about the first time the ebullient Huey campaigned in rural, predominantly Catholic South Louisiana. A veteran local boss advised him at the outset of the tour, "Remember one thing, Huey. South Louisiana's a lot different from your northern part of the state. We've got a lot of Catholic voters." "I know," nodded Long.

And so at every whistle stop on the tour Huey would declaim for openers, "When I was a boy, I'd get up at 6:00 a.m. every Sunday, hitch our old horse up to the buggy and take my Catholic grandparents to mass. I'd bring them home, and at 10:00 a.m. I'd hitch the old horse up again, and take my Baptist grandparents to church."

The audiences responded heartily, and the local boss finally told Huey admiringly, "You've been holding out on us. We didn't know you had any Catholic grandparents."

"Don't be a damn fool," replied Huey. "We didn't even have a horse!"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My wife has been told that she will give birth to our child by Caesarean operation. We are not as worried about it as we are confused. Will you enlighten us?

Mr. T.R., Rhode Island

Dear Mr. R.: About one child in every fifty normal deliveries is born by Caesarean operation. This method is obviously named after Caesar, who was supposedly born in this manner.

There are a number of reasons why a child is chosen to be delivered through an incision in the lower part of the abdominal wall. The most common is some anatomical abnormality of the pelvic bones of the mother. Only occasionally is the child so large that it cannot pass through the normal vaginal birth canal.

If the surgeon believes that the life of the child or mother is threatened by a normal delivery he may suggest a Caesarean section. The decision to do this is made after very careful consideration and usually after consultation with another doctor.

The excellent surgical techniques and the safety of anesthesia, coupled with use of antibiotics, add great safety for the life and health of the mother and the child during such surgery.

I must interject an additional thought, namely, that your confusion exists only because you did not ask you own doctor to adequately explain the reason for this operation.

My new business will take me to a high, dry climate. Is this safe for one who had a mild heart attack ten years ago, at the age of 45?

Mr. K.L., New Jersey

Dear Mr. L.: Most people adjust very quickly to changes in altitude when they move to new climates. Some people take a longer time to make that adjustment. When one has been completely free of symptoms for such a long time it can be safely assumed that your heart is virtually normal. Indulging as you do in all activities, at work and at play, substantiates this.

Nevertheless, I would suggest a complete reevaluation of your general health before you move to the higher altitude. Frequently doctors suggest that people try a new altitude for a while before making a final decision to live there. By doing so, you can learn more about the climate and how well you can adjust to it.

A slow adjustment period is a safe way for your body to make the transition.

Can a young boy have both male and female sex hormones? Is this unusual and can it affect him in later life?

Mrs. E.K., Georgia

Dear Mr. K.: All boys and girls have within them female sex hormones (estrogen and male sex hormones (androgens). As the boy advances through puberty there is a decrease in the female sex hormones. Similarly, as the girl passes through puberty, there is a decrease in the male sex hormones.

The correct balance between these hormones is established in adolescence. You need not have concern about this problem, but if you need added assurance, discuss it freely with your own doctor.

Emotional exhaustion needs as much rest as does physical fatigue.

You're Telling Me

Will Nixon Get The Horses?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The Nixon gambit for the coming Congressional elections is to assume that the Silent Majority is so sick of demonstrations, crime, pro-Hanoi displays, college "pot" parties and post-graduate hard drugs that the purely economic issues won't be able to halt a Republican juggernaut. But to win by exploiting the Spiro Agnew "strategy of disgust" Nixon should heed Casey Stengel's warning that you can't win if you haven't got the horses. In some places he won't know whether he has some genuinely fleet animals until after the local party executive committees have spoken, or the primaries have determined the ultimate registered Republican choices.

The thing that has Nixon still sitting on Cloud Nine is the William Cahill victory in the New Jersey 1969 gubernatorial race. New Jersey, which to some extent is a dormitory area for New York City and Philadelphia, has become the epitome of the new suburbia, where disgust with violence and demonstration politics runs high. But in neighboring New York State, Governor Nelson Rockefeller hasn't made the logical deduction. He still supports the Leftish Charles Goodell for Senator and, since the Rockefeller word carries tremendous weight in the party, the murmurs that the Speaker of the Assembly, Perry Belmont Duryea Jr. of Montauk on Long Island, would make a more fitting candidate still have a most wistful sound.

In Connecticut, there is no dearth of eager aspirants to the Republican Senatorial nomination, Congressman Lowell Wicker, a man of fertile ideas, probably has the inside track. If the big autumn issues in his state are local (the plight of the Penn-Central Railroad commuters, the pollution in Long Island Sound, the disruptions caused by urban renewal), Wicker would surely campaign in a way that is pleasing to the White House. But it is no secret that Weicker goes beyond Nixon on welfare and his opponent for the nomination, State Senator John Lupton, would like to challenge his loyalty to Nixon on foreign policy. A third candidate, former Congressman Ab Sibal, has possibilities as a "Nixon man," even though his record would tend to put him somewhat on the liberal side.

The precise orientation of the Republican Senatorial candidate in Massachusetts may come under the hearing of "so what?" as long as the incumbent Ted Kennedy retains his local appeal and power. However, if there is a silent drift toward Agnewism in the Bay State, the probability that the Republicans will nominate Josiah Spaulding, the former chairman of the Republican State Committee, cannot be taken as good news for Nixon. Spaulding has attacked the Nixon Administration, and he thinks very little of Spiro Agnew. Believe it or not, he could even run as a leftist alternative to Teddy Kennedy. To date, the efforts to get Erwin Canham of the Christian Science Monitor, Representative Margaret Heckler of Wellesley (who holds Speaker Joe Martin's old House seat), George Lodge (Henry Cabot Lodge's son), or Representative Brad Morse of Lowell into the race against Spaulding have not succeeded.

Out in New Mexico, the single spot in the Southwest that has not heretofore gone gung-ho for Nixon Republicanism, there is a possibility that Nixon may yet have a horse willing to carry his philosophical colors. Anderson Carter, who ran extremely well against Senator Clinton Anderson, a venerable local institution, in the 1966 election, is fighting Governor David Cargo for the Republican Senatorial nomination. Cargo is the candidate of the liberals, which would have helped him in years gone by. But the political expert of the Albuquerque Journal says that liberalism is now considered something of a liability in the Republican organization. Carter is a Nixon man down the line who will pitch his campaign to the idea that "we need something different than what we have had in the last thirty years."

To step down a bit to a House of Representatives race, the Cahill victory in New Jersey has resulted in a scramble for the Republican Congressional nomination in New Jersey's Fifteenth District, which takes in most of the extremely fast-growing Middlesex County. Representative Ed Patten, the Democrat, has been a four-term winner in Middlesex House elections. But, since Nixon and Cahill both carried the Fifteenth District, seven eager Republican contestants are fighting for the right to oppose Patten. Charles W. Wiley, who has made a name for himself nationally as the executive director of the National Committee for Responsible Patriotism (he is the fellow who persuaded all those automobile drivers to turn their headlights on as a patriotic gesture on Moratorium Day), hopes to persuade the nominating committee in his district that he is the best man to carry the Nixon colors. He has friends in Washington who are pulling for him.

Nixon, of course, keeps his hands off in the pre-primary jockeying. But this does not mean that he really wants to be represented by a Spaulding or even a Goodell. It's too bad that some Republicans have not managed to get the pitch, which is there even if it must remain tacit.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, March 23, the 82nd day of 1970. There are 283 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1933, the German Parliament granted Adolf Hitler dictatorial powers.

On this date:

In 1743, a London audience that included King George II heard George Frederick Handel's "Messiah" for the first time.

In 1775, Patrick Henry called on Virginia to arm in case war against England became necessary. He declared: "Give me liberty or give me death."

In 1868, the impeachment trial of President Andrew Johnson began in the U.S. Senate. He was acquitted in May.

In 1901, in the Philippines, a leader of a rebellion against the United States, Emilio Aguinaldo, was captured.

In 1945, in World War II, the U.S. 3rd Army crossed the Rhine.

Ten years ago — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev arrived in Paris on a state visit to France.

Five years ago — The first two-man American space team was shot into orbit as Virgil I. Grissom and John W. Young were launched from Cape Kennedy.

One year ago — Thousands of teen-agers gathered in Miami's Orange Bowl to demonstrate for decency in entertainment and to express belief in God.

Corruption Breeds Delay In Government

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Lengthy delays are normal in clearing goods from the Peruvian customs.

However, one American recently experienced unusual delays in clearing a package containing a toy for his son, so he called on the supervisor of postal customs.

The man pleaded forgiveness, explaining "the police have arrested 17 of my inspectors for stealing."

Genevieve Bujold

By BOB THOMAS
AP Television-Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "The Canadians used to worship failure. Not any longer. There is a new spirit, a new eagerness to succeed."

Genevieve Bujold was talking about her countrymen. She is the Montreal-born actress who was nominated for an Academy Award because of her performance as Anne Boleyn in "Anne of the Thousand Days." The matter came up when she was telling of the day she learned of her nomination:

"I heard about it at home in Montreal when my agent called with the news at 2:30 in the afternoon. That evening at 6:30 our friends gathered for a celebration, and I left at 8:30 for the Command Performance of "Anne" in London.

"What touched me very deeply was the pride and affection that our friends showed over the nomination. They were genuinely pleased for me and delighted that a Canadian had made it. That reflects a change of attitude."

The sense of defeatism is understandable in Canada's earlier years, when the nation saw its young talent develop in television and the theater, only to be lured away to the United States and England. Now there is hope, Miss Bujold observed, in the Canadian Film Development Corporation, which has $10 million for nurturing movie projects.

The first film made under the plan is "The Act of the Heart," starring Miss Bujold and directed by her husband, Paul Almond. It will be released soon by Universal. A releasing deal is one of the requirements of the Development Corporation, which ten provides half the financing.

With Genevieve Bujold now an international star, how much longer will she remain a Montreal resident?

"As long as Canada can provide me with work," she says.

Whether Canada can compete remains to be seen. Miss Bujold's performance as the ambitious Anne has established her as one of the most accomplished young actresses of the English-speaking world. She is 27, a French-Canadian with a bit of Irish.

She was schooled in a convent, later attended the Montreal Conservatory of Drama, toured in France and Russia in a Canadian company. One of the results was a small role in Alain Resnais' "La Guerre Est Finie."

The French film was seen by director George Schaefer, who cast her in the title role of a television version of Shaw's "St. Joan." She had also been directed by her husband in a Canadian film, "Isabel."

"That is what got me 'Anne of The Thousand Days,'" says Miss Bujold. "Hal Wallis and his wife, Martha Hyer, almost every night have friends in to watch movies. One night they showed Isabel,' and he said, 'That is 'Anne,'"

Next, she needed the approval of her co-star, Richard Burton, whom she visited on the set of "Staircase" in Paris. He approved. The script called for numerous love scenes between Anne and Henry VIII, and one that took place in bed. The reaction of Mrs. Burton?

"She was very discreet," said Miss Bujold. "She came to the set, but only as the wife as an actor might do. She stayed very much in the background."

She still says she feels uncomfortable in anything larger than a size 10 dress. But if you took one of those dresses she buys and propped it up lengthwise with tentpoles, you could drive a Jeep through it without touching the sides. Does that mean the size of Jeeps is being miniaturized?

The problem is even worse in men's wear. Remember when a fellow felt comfortable in a shirt with a size 15 neck, a pair of size 9-C shoes, a 36-inch belt and a size 40 suit

Well, today that same fellow —no more than 25 years older—feels pinched by a size 9½ pair of shoes, a size 44 suit, a size 40 belt and a size 16 shirt. He is uncomfortable from toenail to tonsil.

The real truth is that sizes aren't constant in any field anymore. Years feel shorter than they used to be, but many a day lasts interminably longer.

The size of wars appears to be even harder to figure. You get in one that you are assured is small, preventive economy-size war, and the next thing you know it is unmistakably bigger, doesn't appear particulary preventive, and is about as economical as bankruptcy.

Even the size of words has become confused. There was a time when a big deal was a big deal. But now when your wife says to you, "big deal!,"—well, you don't feel like a major wheel.

Unless some agency like the U.S. Bureaus of Standards can help us standardize our standards, how are we ever going to be able properly to size-up our size-ups?

MARCH 1925
45 YEARS AGO

Harry M. Weldon, proclaimed by the Cincinnati Enquirer as the "prince of sports writers," was remembered in a special by that newspaper on the 25th anniversary of his death. A native of Circleville, Weldon was well known around the nation for his coverage of great prize ring events including the Sullivan-Corbet contest and the one-round encounter between Bob Fitzsimmons and Peter Maher.

The home of Wayne Lindsay on the Island Road near the Red River Bridge was destroyed by fire. The house, an old frame two story structure tied together with wooden pins, was built in the days when Circleville was a village. It had formerly stood on S. Court St., near Mill and later moved to the farm.

Harvey Sweyer, who operated a shoe store at 130 W. Main St., advertised good, rebuilt shoes for real economy. "If President Coolidge can ride in a public pullman car for economy," he said, "you can certainly walk in repaired shoes."

In a list of bills approved by county commissioners were the following: Fitzpatrick Printery, covers for probate judge — $2.25; Mrs. Arthur Miller, laundry — $3; Mrs. Clark Hunsicker, office rent—$20 and Thomas Rader and sons, coal for court house — $26.09.

Lists of letters not picked up by owners at the city post office were advertised in the Union-Herald by George P. Foresman, postmaster.

Mary Alice Bales, of Roundtown, attended the inaugration of President Coolidge in Washington with a party of students from Ward-Belmont College, Nashville, Tenn.

Trinity Lutheran Brotherhood held a debate at one of their sessions on whether a health certificate should be required before a marriage license was granted. Judges were Dr. C. E. Bowers, Charles L. Mack and J. D. Hummel, who decided by a vote of two to one, that the certificate should not be required.

Clark's 5 & 10 cent store advertised special men's $2.25 pants for only $1.59. The sale would only last a few days, but Clark's promised the pants would last for years.

New postal rates were announced by the government, raising post cards to two cents, and putting a service charge on all parcels except those from rural routes.

Eye care and glasses fitting was a service of the L. M. Butch Co., jeweler and Optometrist, West Main St.

Dr. Gay L. Hitler, reported that it only took him an hour and a half to land six fine bass in Scippo Creek. One hour was used for catching the minnows, 15 minutes to go to his "sunfish hole" and 15 minutes to make the catch.

RUNNING—Turned down by the U.S. Supreme Court in a bid to succeed himself in office, Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia announced in Atlanta that he will run for lieutenant governor, but has not yet decided which party.

Presidential Palace Half Way Cleaned

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Workmen set out one Sunday recently to clean up the dingy, gray Presidential Palace.

After several hours the lower half of the palace looked much better. The upper floors were still dirty — there was NOT enough pressure in the water hoses to reach them.

"Why is it every time we discuss something, you have to put in your two cents' worth?"

Try and Stop Me

—By BENNETT CERF—

WHEN a quiz master asked a lady contestant to name her favorite author, she blandly replied, "My husband." Takes aback, the game master asked, "Your husband? What does he write?" The lady answered "Checks."

In his best-selling biography, "Huey Long," the eminent historian T. Harry Williams tells about the first time the ebullient Huey campaigned in rural, predominantly Catholic South Louisiana. A veteran local boss advised him at the outset of the tour, "Remember one thing, Huey. South Louisiana's a lot different from your northern part of the state. We've got a lot of Catholic voters." "I know," nodded Long.

And so at every whistle stop on the tour Huey would declaim for openers, "When I was a boy, I'd get up at 6:00 a.m. every Sunday, hitch our old horse up to the buggy and take my Catholic grandparents to mass. I'd bring them home, and at 10:00 a.m. I'd hitch the old horse up again, and take my Baptist grandparents to church."

The audiences responded heartily, and the local boss finally told Huey admiringly, "You've been holding out on us. We didn't know you had any Catholic grandparents."

"Don't be a damn fool," replied Huey. "We didn't even have a horse!"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My wife has been told that she will give birth to our child by Caesarean operation. We are not as worried about it as we are confused. Will you enlighten us?

Mr. T.R., Rhode Island

Dear Mr. R.: About one child in every fifty normal deliveries is born by Caesarean operation. This method is obviously named after Caesar, who was supposedly born in this manner.

There are a number of reasons why a child is chosen to be delivered through an incision in the lower part of the abdominal wall. The most common is some anatomical abnormality of the pelvic bones of the mother. Only occasionally is the child so large that it cannot pass through the normal vaginal birth canal.

If the surgeon believes that the life of the child or mother is threatened by a normal delivery he may suggest a Caesarean section. The decision to do this is made after very careful consideration and usually after consultation with another doctor.

The excellent surgical techniques and the safety of anesthesia, coupled with use of antibiotics, add great safety for the life and health of the mother and the child during such surgery.

I must interject an additional thought, namely, that your confusion exists only because you did not ask you own doctor to adequately explain the reason for this operation.

My new business will take me to a high, dry climate. Is this safe for one who had a mild heart attack ten years ago, at the age of 45?

Mr. K.L., New Jersey

Dear Mr. L.: Most people adjust very quickly to changes in altitude when they move to new climates. Some people take a longer time to make that adjustment. When one has been completely free of symptoms for such a long time it can be safely assumed that your heart is virtually normal. Indulging as you do in all activities, at work and at play, substantiates this.

Nevertheless, I would suggest a complete reevaluation of your general health before you move to the higher altitude. Frequently doctors suggest that people try a new altitude for a while before making a final decision to live there. By doing so, you can learn more about the climate and how well you can adjust to it.

A slow adjustment period is a safe way for your body to make the transition.

Can a young boy have both male and female sex hormones? Is this unusual and can it affect him in later life?

Mrs. E.K., Georgia

Dear Mr. K.: All boys and girls have within them female sex hormones (estrogen and male sex hormones (androgens). As the boy advances through puberty there is a decrease in the female sex hormones. Similarly, as the girl passes through puberty, there is a decrease in the male sex hormones.

The correct balance between these hormones is established in adolescence. You need not have concern about this problem, but if you need added assurance, discuss it freely with your own doctor.

Emotional exhaustion needs as much rest as does physical fatigue.

Will Nixon Get The Horses?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The Nixon gambit for the coming Congressional elections is to assume that the Silent Majority is so sick of demonstrations, crime, pro-Hanoi displays, college "pot" parties and post-graduate hard drugs that the purely economic issues won't be able to halt a Republican juggernaut. But to win by exploiting the Spiro Agnew "strategy of disgust" Nixon should heed Casey Stengel's warning that you can't win if you haven't got the horses. In some places he won't know whether he has some genuinely fleet animals until after the local party executive committees have spoken, or the primaries have determined the ultimate registered Republican choices.

The thing that has Nixon still sitting on Cloud Nine is the William Cahill victory in the New Jersey 1969 gubernatorial race. New Jersey, which to some extent is a dormitory area for New York City and Philadelphia, has become the epitome of the new suburbia, where disgust with violence and demonstration politics runs high. But in neighboring New York State, Governor Nelson Rockefeller hasn't made the logical deduction. He still supports the Leftish Charles Goodell for Senator and, since the Rockefeller word carries tremendous weight in the party, the murmurs that the Speaker of the Assembly, Perry Belmont Duryea Jr. of Montauk on Long Island, would make a more fitting candidate still have a most wistful sound.

In Connecticut, there is no dearth of eager aspirants to the Republican Senatorial nomination, Congressman Lowell Wicker, a man of fertile ideas, probably has the inside track. If the big autumn issues in his state are local (the plight of the Penn-Central Railroad commuters, the pollution in Long Island Sound, the disruptions caused by urban renewal), Wicker would surely campaign in a way that is pleasing to the White House. But it is no secret that Weicker goes beyond Nixon on welfare and his opponent for the nomination, State Senator John Lupton, would like to challenge his loyalty to Nixon on foreign policy. A third candidate, former Congressman Ab Sibal, has possibilities as a "Nixon man," even though his record would tend to put him somewhat on the liberal side.

The precise orientation of the Republican Senatorial candidate in Massachusetts may come under the hearing of "so what?" as long as the incumbent Ted Kennedy retains his local appeal and power. However, if there is a silent drift toward Agnewism in the Bay State, the probability that the Republicans will nominate Josiah Spaulding, the former chairman of the Republican State Committee, cannot be taken as good news for Nixon. Spaulding has attacked the Nixon Administration, and he thinks very little of Spiro Agnew. Believe it or not, he could even run as a leftist alternative to Teddy Kennedy. To date, the efforts to get Erwin Canham of the Christian Science Monitor, Representative Margaret Heckler of Wellesley (who holds Speaker Joe Martin's old House seat), George Lodge (Henry Cabot Lodge's son), or Representative Brad Morse of Lowell into the race against Spaulding have not succeeded.

Out in New Mexico, the single spot in the Southwest that has not heretofore gone gung-ho for Nixon Republicanism, there is a possibility that Nixon may yet have a horse willing to carry his philosophical colors. Anderson Carter, who ran extremely well against Senator Clinton Anderson, a venerable local institution, in the 1968 election, is fighting Governor David Cargo for the Republican Senatorial nomination. Cargo is the candidate of the liberals, which would have helped him in years gone by. But the political expert of the Albuquerque Journal says that liberalism is now considered something of a liability in the Republican organization. Carter is a Nixon man down the line who will pitch his campaign to the idea that "we need something different than what we have had in the last thirty years."

To step down a bit to a House of Representatives race, the Cahill victory in New Jersey has resulted in a scramble for the Republican Congressional nomination in New Jersey's Fifteenth District, which takes in most of the extremely fast-growing Middlesex County. Representative Ed Patten, the Democrat, has been a four-term winner in Middlesex House elections. But, since Nixon and Cahill both carried the Fifteenth District, seven eager Republican contestants are fighting for the right to oppose Patten. Charles W. Wiley, who has made a name for himself nationally as the executive director of the National Committee for Responsible Patriotism (he is the fellow who persuaded all those automobile drivers to turn their headlights on as a patriotic gesture on Moratorium Day), hopes to persuade the nominating committee in his district that he is the best man to carry the Nixon colors. He has friends in Washington who are pulling for him.

Nixon, of course, keeps his hands off in the pre-primary jockeying. But this does not mean that he really wants to be represented by a Spaulding or even a Goodell. It's too bad that some Republicans have not managed to get the pitch, which is there even if it must remain tacit.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, March 23, the 82nd day of 1970. There are 283 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1933, the German Parliament granted Adolf Hitler dictatorial powers.

On this date:

In 1743, a London audience that included King George II heard George Frederick Handel's "Messiah" for the first time.

In 1775, Patrick Henry called on Virginia to arm in case war against England became necessary. He declared: "Give me liberty or give me death."

In 1868, the impeachment trial of President Andrew Johnson began in the U.S. Senate. He was acquitted in May.

In 1901, in the Philippines, a leader of a rebellion against the United States, Emilio Aguinaldo, was captured.

In 1945, in World War II, the U.S. 3rd Army crossed the Rhine.

Ten years ago — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev arrived in Paris on a state visit to France.

Five years ago — The first two-man American space team was shot into orbit as Virgil I. Grissom and John W. Young were launched from Cape Kennedy.

One year ago — Thousands of teen-agers gathered in Miami's Orange Bowl to demonstrate for decency in entertainment and to express belief in God.

Corruption Breeds Delay In Government

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Lengthy delays are normal in clearing goods from the Peruvian customs.

However, one American recently experienced unusual delays in clearing a package containing a toy for his son, so he called on the supervisor of postal customs.

The man pleaded forgiveness, explaining "the police have arrested 17 of my inspectors for stealing."

Genevieve Bujold

By BOB THOMAS
AP Television-Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "The Canadians used to worship failure. Not any longer. There is a new spirit, a new eagerness to succeed."

Genevieve Bujold was talking about her countrymen. She is the Montreal-born actress who was nominated for an Academy Award because of her performance as Anne Boleyn in "Anne of the Thousand Days." The matter came up when she was telling of the day she learned of her nomination:

"I heard about it at home in Montreal when my agent called with the news at 2:30 in the afternoon. That evening at 6:30 our friends gathered for a celebration, and I left at 8:30 for the Command Performance of "Anne" in London.

"What touched me very deeply was the pride and affection that our friends showed over the nomination. They were genuinely pleased for me and delighted that a Canadian had made it. That reflects a change of attitude."

The sense of defeatism is understandable in Canada's earlier years, when the nation saw its young talent develop in television and the theater, only to be lured away to the United States and England. Now there is hope, Miss Bujold observed, in the Canadian Film Development Corporation, which has $10 million for nurturing movie projects.

The first film made under the plan is "The Act of the Heart," starring Miss Bujold and directed by her husband, Paul Almond. It will be released soon by Universal. A releasing deal is one of the requirements of the Development Corporation, which ten provides half the financing.

With Genevieve Bujold now an international star, how much longer will she remain a Montreal resident?

"As long as Canada can provide me with work," she says.

Whether Canada can compete remains to be seen. Miss Bujold's performance as the ambitious Anne has established her as one of the most accomplished young actresses of the English-speaking world. She is 27, a French-Canadian with a bit of Irish.

She was schooled in a convent, later attended the Montreal Conservatory of Drama, toured in France and Russia in a Canadian company. One of the results was a small role in Alain Resnais' "La Guerre Est Finie."

The French film was seen by director George Schaefer, who cast her in the title role of a television version of Shaw's "St. Joan." She had also been directed by her husband in a Canadian film, "Isabel."

"That is what got me 'Anne of The Thousand Days,'" says Miss Bujold. "Hal Wallis and his wife, Martha Hyer, almost every night have friends in to watch movies. One night they showed Isabel,' and he said, 'That is 'Anne,'"

Next, she needed the approval of her co-star, Richard Burton, whom she visited on the set of "Staircase" in Paris. He approved. The script called for numerous love scenes between Anne and Henry VIII, and one that took place in bed. The reaction of Mrs. Burton?

"She was very discreet," said Miss Bujold. "She came to the set, but only as the wife as an actor might do. She stayed very much in the background."

3 Plane Crash Survivors Escape Death In Mountains

LEADVILLE, Colo. (AP) — Three survivors of a plane crash near Mount Elbert, in the Colorado Rockies, reached Leadville Sunday after spending the night in their wrecked aircraft, enduring below zero temperatures.

They were identified as Larry Knoch, 28, of St. Louisville, Ohio, the pilot, and passengers Dean H. Betschman, 25, of Monroeville, Ohio and Joe Lewis, 28, of Alamosa, Colo.

Betschman, who suffered a back injury, was taken to St. Vincent Hospital here, while the other two were treated and released.

Authorities said the accident occurred Saturday afternoon, when the brown-white Cessna Cardinal 177 crashed in Echo Canyon, 10 miles west of Twin Lakes, Colo., at an altitude of 12,500 feet.

The three men aboard were on their way from Alamosa to Aspen, Colo., where they had planned to spend the weekend skiing.

Authorities gave this account of the incident:

The three men had sleeping bags, skis and food aboard the light plane and their radio remained operative, but they could not establish contact with any point because of their "unfamiliarity" with the area.

The light plane crashed in Echo Canyon, north of Independence Pass, when it entered the deep, narrow valley and was unable to get out of it. Heavy winds were reported in the area at the time of the accident.

There was no fire or explosion, although the aircraft was wrecked.

After spending the night in the wreckage, Knoch and Lewis, who did not suffer major injuries, left Betschman behind and skied down about five miles until they reached a highway and Twin Lakes, where they notified the authorities.

Officials from The Colorado State Patrol, Civil Air Patrol, Lake County Sheriff's department, and the Colorado State Game, Fish and Parks went to the scene of the crash after calling in a helicopter from Aspen.

The helicopter landed on its second try and took Betschman to an ambulance on the highway.

Knoch and Lewis were in Leadville Sunday night, trying to find out how long he would have to stay in the hospital.

9th Birthday Of Brooks-Yates Is Observed

For their Friday program the Betsy Ross Junior American Citizens Club of Brooks-Yates School chose to recognize the ninth birthday of official classroom training for mentally retarded in Pickaway County. This club is sponsored by Pickaway Plains Chapter, Daughters of The American Revolution.

The Club president, Mae Johnson presided during the program-meeting. As the secretary, Deborah Hutchinson, called the roll, each of the 18 members responded by what they liked best about their special school.

Bill Hill, the treasurer, gave the financial report. An organ solo was played by Ellen Tootle. Club pride was shown by the cheerleaders — Patricia Kastner, Thelma Hampp, Janet Smallwood, Donna Cross, Francene Porter and by the Club Song "We Juniors Are Loyal" in which all members participated.

Donna Cross led in recognition of March 22, 1961 as the first day of the school in rooms at St. Joseph's School.

Mrs. M. A. Yates, was recognized as the administrator who through the Child Welfare Board, guided the inauguration of official training for mentally retarded in Pickaway County. Mrs. Yates reviewed the beginning efforts.

She called the roll of the first two classes of 15 students taught by Mrs. G. A. Wyllie and Mrs. Elzie Brooks. Responding were Ellen Tootle, a student from the school and Carol Fout. Frank Hampp and George William Tootle who are now in the sheltered workshop — a part of the training program which began April 22, 1968.

A birthday cake made by members of the club was served by Mrs. Yates assisted by the club president, Miss Johnson, to the club members, the other 14 students of the school, the 12 enrolled in the workshop, the 7 members of the training center faculty and Mrs. Brooks.

Other members of the club participating in this ninth anniversary celebration were Alfred Heeter, Jack Ball, Ronald Dollison, Jim McKelvey, D-Ann Sharrett, Mary Cline, Philip Savage and Paul Reed.

Doctor O.K's This Hemorrhoid Treatment For N.J. Couple's Son

Treatment Shrinks Piles, Relieves Pain In Most Cases

Wharton, N.J. Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Jeffers report: "Our son suffered from hemorrhoids. I asked the doctor about Preparation H and he gave us the O.K. Our son is now fine, thanks to Preparation H."

(Note: Doctors have proved in most cases – Preparation H® actually shrinks inflamed hemorrhoids. In case after case, the sufferer first notices prompt relief from pain, burning and itching. Then swelling is gently reduced.

There's no other formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids like doctor-tested Preparation H. It also lubricates to make bowel movements more comfortable, soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.)

Ohio Candidates Wax Hot On Political Trail

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. James A. Rhodes got some good news and some bad news this weekend.

The good news was a nice letter from the White House assuring that federal action would be taken to reduce government waste in some federal programs, as the governor suggested last year.

The bad news was endorsement by the Cleveland Plain Dealer — the state's largest newspaper—of his opponent in the Republican U.S. Senate primary, Robert Taft Jr.

The Plain Dealer also snubbed Clevelander Howard Metzenbaum and backed John H. Glenn for the Democratic Senatorial nod.

Meanwhile, Republican contenders for the governorship Donald E. Lukens and Paul W. Brown issued position statements over the weekend.

Lukens questioned Democratic gubernatorial hopeful John J. Gilligan's "attitude and willingness to prosecute groups or individuals guilty of violence and criminal acts," and Brown proposed a "government action line" to enable Ohio citizens to call or write directly to government departments with their problems.

The White House letter was in response to Rhodes' recommendation last September for saving "hundreds of millions of dollars" by simplifying or eliminating some of the multiplicity of report forms required by federal — especially welfare —agencies.

John D. Ehrlichman, assistant to the President for domestic affairs, thanked Rhodes "for calling this problem to our attention." He said several program areas would be surveyed by June 30 and promised the governor a further report at that time.

The Plain Dealer editorial backing Taft said the decision was reached on the basis of three factors: age, legislative experience and "image for Ohio."

The paper said Rhodes "was an effective governor. However, for the future of Ohio, for a progressive, youthful image for the sixth largest state in the nation, and on the basis of proved legislative experience, we heartily endorsed Robert Taft Jr."

In its endorsement of Glenn, the newspaper called him "a new style candidate, offering the Democrats a strong bid to hang on to the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by Stephen M. Young's retirement. . . . he has taken a vigorous grasp upon national problems and has come out with well-reasoned liberal stands on today's urgent issues."

Taft charged Sunday that Rhodes is trying to make conflict of interest a campaign issue.

The Cincinnati Congressman said that to set the record straight, he has disclosed all his securities and the trust agreement holding them and has offered to disclose his income tax returns since 1954, the year he entered public life.

Rhodes said Saturday Taft has listed about $2 million in stocks, but has "forgotten to tell the people of Ohio that a number of these stocks are tied in with companies doing business with the federal government."

Rhodes said he had "not been a governor for profit," and thus had no stocks nor interest in firms doing business with the government.

On the Democratic side of the governor's race, Metzenbaum told a Mansfield audience Sunday that "the Democratic party is the party that stands for civil rights."

He criticized President Nixon's policies in human rights, education, air pollution, the cost of living and Vietnam.

Lukens' weekend statement listed Gilligan's recent attack on the law under which the Chicago 7 were convicted with Gilligan's criticism of the Cincinnati riot trials two years ago.

The Middletown Republican said, "Just as he lacked foresight then, he lacks the vision now to see the real threat posed to the nation by organized revolution and violence."

Brown said his proposed communications center would receive requests for assistance, information and representation 24 hours a day.

"There are more than 70 departments or major offices in state government," Brown said. "I intend to assure that every Ohioan receives prompt action when problems arise."

Brown said the center would provide individual assistance to Ohioans in such areas as consumer fraud, workmen's compensatiion and veteran's claims, drug and narcotics violations or criminal activities and antitrust infringements.

3 Plane Crash Survivors Escape Death In Mountains

LEADVILLE, Colo. (AP) — Three survivors of a plane crash near Mount Elbert, in the Colorado Rockies, reached Leadville Sunday after spending the night in their wrecked aircraft, enduring below zero temperatures.

They were identified as Larry Knoch, 28, of St. Louisville, Ohio, the pilot, and passengers Dean H. Betschman, 25, of Monroeville, Ohio and Joe Lewis, 28, of Alamosa, Colo.

Betschman, who suffered a back injury, was taken to St. Vincent Hospital here, while the other two were treated and released.

Authorities said the accident occurred Saturday afternoon, when the brown-white Cessna Cardinal 177 crashed in Echo Canyon, 10 miles west of Twin Lakes, Colo., at an altitude of 12,500 feet.

The three men aboard were on their way from Alamosa to Aspen, Colo., where they had planned to spend the weekend skiing.

Authorities gave this account of the incident:

The three men had sleeping bags, skis and food aboard the light plane and their radio remained operative, but they could not establish contact with any point because of their "unfamiliarity" with the area.

The light plane crashed in Echo Canyon, north of Independence Pass, when it entered the deep, narrow valley and was unable to get out of it. Heavy winds were reported in the area at the time of the accident.

There was no fire or explosion, although the aircraft was wrecked.

After spending the night in the wreckage, Knoch and Lewis, who did not suffer major injuries, left Betschman behind and skied down about five miles until they reached a highway and Twin Lakes, where they notified the authorities.

Officials from The Colorado State Patrol, Civil Air Patrol, Lake County Sheriff's department, and the Colorado State Game, Fish and Parks went to the scene of the crash after calling in a helicopter from Aspen.

The helicopter landed on its second try and took Betschman to an ambulance on the highway.

Knoch and Lewis were in Leadville Sunday night, trying to find out how long he would have to stay in the hospital.

Frank Hampp and George William Tootle who are now in the sheltered workshop — a part of the training program which began April 22, 1968.

A birthday cake made by members of the club was served by Mrs. Yates assisted by the club president, Miss Johnson, to the club members, the other 14 students of the school, the 12 enrolled in the workshop, the 7 members of the training center faculty and Mrs. Brooks.

Doctor O.K's This Hemorrhoid Treatment For N.J. Couple's Son

Treatment Shrinks Piles, Relieves Pain In Most Cases

Wharton, N.J. Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Jeffers report: "Our son suffered from hemorrhoids. I asked the doctor about Preparation H and he gave us the O.K. Our son is now fine, thanks to Preparation H."

(Note: Doctors have proved in most cases—Preparation H® actually shrinks inflamed hemorrhoids. In case after case, the sufferer first notices prompt relief from pain, burning and itching. Then swelling is gently reduced.

There's no other formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids like doctor-tested Preparation H. It also lubricates to make bowel movements more comfortable, soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.)

Ohio Candidates Wax Hot On Political Trail

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. James A. Rhodes got some good news and some bad news this weekend.

The good news was a nice letter from the White House assuring that federal action would be taken to reduce government waste in some federal programs, as the governor suggested last year.

The bad news was endorsement by the Cleveland Plain Dealer — the state's largest newspaper—of his opponent in the Republican U.S. Senate primary, Robert Taft Jr.

The Plain Dealer also snubbed Clevelander Howard Metzenbaum and backed John H. Glenn for the Democratic Senatorial nod.

Meanwhile, Republican contenders for the governorship Donald E. Lukens and Paul W. Brown issued position statements over the weekend.

Lukens questioned Democratic gubernatorial hopeful John J. Gilligan's "attitude and willingness to prosecute groups or individuals guilty of violence and criminal acts," and Brown proposed a "government action line" to enable Ohio citizens to call or write directly to government departments with their problems.

The White House letter was in response to Rhodes' recommendation last September for saving "hundreds of millions of dollars" by simplifying or eliminating some of the multiplicity of report forms required by federal — especially welfare —agencies.

John D. Ehrlichman, assistant to the President for domestic affairs, thanked Rhodes "for calling this problem to our attention." He said several program areas would be surveyed by June 30 and promised the governor a further report at that time.

The Plain Dealer editorial backing Taft said the decision was reached on the basis of three factors: age, legislative experience and "image for Ohio."

The paper said Rhodes "was an effective governor. However, for the future of Ohio, for a progressive, youthful image for the sixth largest state in the nation, and on the basis of proved legislative experience, we heartily endorsed Robert Taft Jr."

In its endorsement of Glenn, the newspaper called him "a new style candidate, offering the Democrats a strong bid to hang on to the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by Stephen M. Young's retirement. . . . he has taken a vigorous grasp upon national problems and has come out with well-reasoned liberal stands on today's urgent issues."

Taft charged Sunday that Rhodes is trying to make conflict of interest a campaign issue.

The Cincinnati Congressman said that to set the record straight, he has disclosed all his securities and the trust agreement holding them and has offered to disclose his income tax returns since 1954, the year he entered public life.

Rhodes said Saturday Taft has listed about $2 million in stocks, but has "forgotten to tell the people of Ohio that a number of these stocks are tied in with companies doing business with the federal government."

Rhodes said he had "not been a governor for profit," and thus had no stocks nor interest in firms doing business with the government.

On the Democratic side of the governor's race, Metzenbaum told a Mansfield audience Sunday that "the Democratic party is the party that stands for civil rights."

He criticized President Nixon's policies in human rights, education, air pollution, the cost of living and Vietnam.

Lukens' weekend statement listed Gilligan's recent attack on the law under which the Chicago 7 were convicted with Gilligan's criticism of the Cincinnati riot trials two years ago.

The Middletown Republican said, "Just as he lacked foresight then, he lacks the vision now to see the real threat posed to the nation by organized revolution and violence."

Brown said his proposed communications center would receive requests for assistance, information and representation 24 hours a day.

"There are more than 70 departments or major offices in state government," Brown said. "I intend to assure that every Ohioan receives prompt action when problems arise."

Brown said the center would provide individual assistance to Ohioans in such areas as consumer fraud, workmen's compensatiion and veteran's claims, drug and narcotics violations or criminal activities and antitrust infringements.

Columnist Sees Good In Youth

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Columnist James Reston, calling himself a "Scottish old geezer. . . past 60," said Sunday, "I am very sympathetic with the young. They have to grapple with prosperity."

Reston, a vice president of the New York Times, told some 2,000 at Ohio State University's Charter Day Convocation, "We merely had to deal with adversity and, having dealt with it fairly well, we have led the young into temptations beyond our worst nightmares."

Americans are going through the most difficult time in the history of the nation, Reston said. "We have to ask ourselves . . . whether we would have been able to prevail over the tensions and temptations life now puts before our children."

Reston, a vice president of the New York Times, told some 2,000 at Ohio State University's Charter Day Convocation, "We merely had to deal with adversity and, having dealt with it fairly well, we have led the young into temptations beyond our worst nightmares."

Americans are going through the most difficult time in the history of the nation, Reston said. "We have to ask ourselves . . . whether we would have been able to prevail over the tensions and temptations life now puts before our children."

Ski Club Makes Successful Trial Run This Year

Many student at Westfall are looking at the coming of spring as the end of a beautiful season. Although the coming of summer means the beginning of swimming and other summer activities, it also means the coming of warmer weather and the end of the first season of the Skiing Club.

The Skiing Club made the first of its three trips on January 24, when it traveled to Snow Trails, located fifty miles north of Columbus on Route 71.

The day always began with the departure of a caravan of cars from Westfall at 7:30 on Saturday mornings and usually arriving at the skiing slopes two hours later. Equipment rental and area tickets were then handled. By 11:00 students were on the slopes learning the basic procedures from their teacher-advisors: Mr. Gary Hennen, Mr. Meighan, and Mrs. Ruth Wilson. Such information as how to snow plow and side slip was introduced.

The rest of the day was left to the student to develop his own way of skiing by the interjection of hard fails and members were able to ski before the season was over. Skiiers usually left the skiing area tired, but feeling that their $11.50 expense was cheap, and they eagerly awaited the next trip.

Girls' Varsity Basketball Ends Season

By SALLY ANN MINOR

Those girls out for varsity basketball this year have found out that practice does pay off. The team has shown great improvement since its first game on January 29 during which Miami Trace broke the defense and scored 49 points to Westfall's 16.

To show their determination, the varsity held Miami Trace to only 25 points on March 3. Although Westfall put up a good struggle, they were stopped at 19 points. In other games during the season, the varsity turned down Mt. Sterling in a 22-14 victory, but were revenged in a 12-9 loss on Feb. 23. Teays Valley proved to be a tough opponent and defeated the Mustangs 30-17 on Feb. 26.

Members of the varsity squad are: seniors — Janne Reynolds, coach; Leslie Zimmerman, Nancy McDill, Connie Miller, Ettia Sollars, Kay Whitesed, Cindy McKay, Patty Schein, and Debbie Clem; juniors — Sally Ann Minor, Karen Horn, Sharon Hildenbrand, Becky Overly, Connie Hooks, Roxanne Hulse, and Vicki Dennis.

Junior Varsity has shown good teamwork and developed a 4-1 record. The jv's started out the season with a 19-16 win over Miami Trace, but lost their next tilt against Mt. Sterling, 12-18. In revenge, they turned down Mt. Sterling the following week in a 15-13 thriller. In other games they wiped out Teays Valley 19-8 and defeated Miami Trace 23-17.

Saxbe Speaks On 'Creaking' Medical System

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—U.S. Sen. William B. Saxbe told Ohio doctors here Sunday there is growing concern that the approach to medical care has not worked and urged the doctors to do something about it before Congress does.

The Ohio Republican told an Ohio State Medical Association conference of county medical societies the "nation's medical system is creaking, straining and breaking down. . . At the present time in Congress there are no proposals for radical changes, but I can see it coming.

"If the medical system is poor, the dental situation is even worse . . . meanwhile, the present medical system is out-pricing the middle-income people."

Saxbe suggested the medical profession extend its services and conserve time by encouraging more doctors to set up their own clinics for group work and make use of persons with limited medical training to help doctors with sick calls, particularly in rural areas.

A. The designation 1040-1 refers to the page number of the back of the first copy of the Form 1040 in the tax packages sent to all taxpayers this year. On it will be found general information on the new Form 1040. Other general instructions for Form 1040 continue on the back of the taxpayer's copy of the 1040 ad on pages B-2, E-2 and R-2, all of which are found in the package. The designations 1040-1 and 1040-2 were used simply for numbering and indexing purposes and do not refer to any form separate and apart from the 1040 itself. This same approach applies to other instructions in the package, which, again for indexing purposes, also have been given alphabetical and numerical designations.

Q. The estimated tax forms you sent me said to watch for changes in the law. Have there been any that would affect my 1970 declaration?

A. One change that affects all taxpayers is the increase in the amount allowed for personal exemptions. For the 1970 tax year, $625 should be taken for each exemption.

The Tax Reform Act of 1969 increased the amount for personal exemptions from $600 to $650 effective next July 1 when the necessary adjustments will be made in withholding rates. Since the change takes place at mid-year, the net effect will be to increase the exemption amount to $625.

Also, the tax surchage has been continued at a 5 percent annual rate for the period January 1, 1970, through June 30, 1970, or 2.5 per cent for the tax year 1970.

Some taxpayers may also find the new provisions on income averaging and capital gains will affect their declarations. Details on these provisions and the tax surcharge may be obtained by writing your IRS district director for Publication 553 or by contacting your local IRS office.

Q. Do I handle dividends from a savings and loan account the same way as other dividends?

A. No, this income should be reported as interest on line 13 of Form 1040. If your total interest income is over $100, list the amounts you receive on Schedule B, Part II, and attach it to your return when you file.

Q. I just sent in my return. How long will I have to wait for my refund?

A. If your return is accurate and complete, you should have your refund within 5-6 weeks of the date you filed.

However, should your refund be delayed beyond this period, wait 10 weeks before contacting IRS about it. This will allow time for any notice to reach you about an error or omission such as a missing Social Security number, W-2 or one of the schedules.

Q. Who can use the tax surcharge tables in the 1040 package?

A. the tables should be used for determining the surcharge if your income tax is under $735. For $735 and over, multiply your tax by 10 per cent to determine the surcharge you owe for 1969.

Q. Will IRS figure the tax for you even if you end up owing tax?

A. Yes. If there is tax due, you will be billed and have 30 days to make full payment.

IRS can only compute the tax where the taxpayer's gross income is under $5,000 which consists of wages subject to withholding and not more than $200 of dividends, interest and wages not subject to withholding, and the standard deduction is claimed. But the taxpayer computes his tax when he is claiming sick pay, moving expenses, or employee business expenses.

Q. Do you have to itemize deductions to get any credit for hospital insurance premiums paid?

A. Yes, you must itemize to claim this deduction. However, you may deduct half of your medical insurance premiums up to a maximum of $150 even though your other medical expenses do not exceed 3 per cent of your adjusted gross income.

Q. I pay someone to take care of my two girls while I work. Is there any deduction for this?

A. You may deduct all or part of this expense when certain conditions are met. These conditions are explained on page A-2 of the 1040 tax package you received in the mail.

Q. I'm over 65. Do I still have to file a tax return?

A. Your age entitles you to an additional $600 exemption and therefore you are not required to file a return unless your gross income is $1,200 or over. However, if you had net earnings from self-employment of $400 or more, even if your gross income was less than $1,200, a return will have to be filed and self-employment tax paid.

Q. Are union dues deductible?

A. Yes, these dues are deductible as an employee business expense if you itemize. For more details on these expenses, check page E-2 of the 1040 instruction package.

Public Warned Of New TYPE 'Con Game'

Area law enforcement officers wish to warn the public about persons contacting them posing as bank inspectors.

A new angle to the confidence game was pulled in Chillicothe last week. The people contact a person, usually an elderly person, and tell them they are checking the accounts at the bank and ask to see their account book.

After seeing the person's account, they ask the person to draw their money out and not to tell anyone, then ask to take the money so they can check the serial numbers. Then the confidence men disappear.

If anyone is contacted by someone in this way, they are urged to call the Circleville Police Department at 474-3184 or the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department at 474-2176 immediately.

In another bombing Sunday night, an American soldier and a Vietnamese civilian were wounded by a terrorist grenade tossed into a beverage shop near a U.S. enlisted men's quarters just outside Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airport.

The bombings and grenadings, which until Sunday had been largely ineffectual, came about two weeks after official U.S. sources predicted stepped-up terror attacks in the Saigon area.

However, they said the attacks, part of a Viet Cong effort to create "an illusion of strength," would primarily be directed against U.S. and government buildings in the capital city.

On the battlefield, fighting picked up with 89 of the enemy reported killed in battles in the Mekong Delta's U Minh forest, south of Da Nang and north of Saigon along the jungled Cambodan border.

Thirty of the enemy dead were killed in a clash Sunday night about a mile from Cambodia.

Overall American casualties in ground fighting across South Vietnam were put at one killed and four wounded. Government losses were described as light.

Two enemy mortar attacks overnight killed five persons and wounded 24.

Catholics Eye Priestly Problem

By GEODFREY ANDERSON
AP Religion Writer

LONDON (AP) — The number of Roman Catholic priests leaving the ministry is posing a pastoral problem for bishops and religious superiors, says a confidential report circulated to Church leaders all over the world.

The report, from an international Church research center in Western Europe, says the attitude of the Catholic community is far from unanimous in the way it handles the issue.

"According to region, it can still today vary from unqualified condemnation to acquiescence, passing through all the stages of understanding," the report said. "The subject is still, in the majority of countries, one of those not discussed except by hints on the level of the hierarchies. The result is that the most fantastic information is circulating among ecclesiastics and laymen, all tending, in our experience, in the direction of a grave exaggeration of the number of leavers."

The report suggested it might be better to publish the true figures than to allow "false rumors, generally exaggerated and alarmist" to spread without the possibility of denial.

Only in Holland have complete figures been published. Out of the country's 8,000 priests, 30 left the ministry in 1965, 60 in 1966, 115 in 1967, and 400 in the two years since. At the same time the number of priests dying has exceeded the number of new priests ordained. The present rate of 145 ordinands a year is running at about half what it was 10 years ago.

The Dutch Pastoral Council has voted overwhelmingly that permanent celibacy should no longer be a condition of ordination.

Bishops supported the council, but Pope Paul VI has ruled that to abandon celibacy would mean "a lowering of the authentic concept of the priesthood."

"Nowadays," the report remarked, "experience is showing that the priests leave at any age, with a propensity to leave in the first five years following ordination. Formerly, it was rare for any to leave after 40 years of age."

Those leaving occupy the most varied positions in the Church, the report said, although professors at seminaries and student chaplains tend to leave more frequently than parish priests.

Most try to go into education or the social services, "thus remaining in the preoccupations analagous to those which were theirs before."

The report said there are well-equipped aid centers to help priests who want to leave the Dutch Church at Utrecht, the French Church in Paris, and the Spanish Church in Madrid.

"The official aspect of these services is important," the report said, "because it shows clearly the anxiety of the hierarchy not to reject those priests who leave the ministry."

The report to the bishops suggested, however, that canonical terminology should be changed without delay so that the expression "reduced to lay state" could become more charitably "renunciation of the ministry."

Mansfield To Seek Freeze On Weapons Deployment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says he hopes to get approval of a resolution urging a mutual freeze on strategic weapons deployment before U.S.-Soviet arms talks resume next month in spite of a chilly response by President Nixon.

The resolution, approved unanimously by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, was called irrelevant by President Nixon during his weekend news conferece.

Nevertheless, Masnfield said, "I hope to get it to the floor in a reasonable length of time before the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks are resumed" April 16. He acknowledged there will be opposition.

The committee Friday adopted, on a 10-0 vote, a resolution to have the Senate express its support for a U.S.-Soviet moratorium on deployment of both offensive and defensive strategic weapons systems.

The resolution is a broadened version of a measure that originally advocated a mutual freeze on a new offensive weapon, MIRV— the multiple independently-targeted re-entry vehicle—with which the nuclear warheads on one missile could be aimed at several different targets.

As it stands now, the resolution also would cover antiballistic missile systems.

The resolution would have no force; it would simply express the view of the Senate.

Nixon said Saturday the arms control situation is more intricate than the resolution would imply.

"That's what SALT is about," he said of the Senate proposal. "So I think it's irrelevant."

number of announced Carswell opponents. Forty senators have announced support for the nomination.

Church said Carswell's record as a federal judge "has been utterly pedestrian in character.

"Above all, the court calls for jurists whose comprehension of the Constitution is as profound as their duty to uphold it is imperative," Church said in a speech prepared for the Senate. "As measured against these criteria, George Harrold Carswell is indubitably deficient."

Church said the Senate should apply a special standard in judging a nominee for the Supreme Court, "one of singular excellence." He said Carswell does not meet that test.

Meanwhile, it was disclosed that a half-dozen of Carswell's firmest backers may have to interrupt a mission to Monte Carlo for the Senate vote on confirmation.

Two senators counted as opposed to confirmation also are members of a delegation the Senate is sending to Monaco for a meeting of world parliamentarians.

The Monte Carlo meeting dates conflict with the timetable Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield hopes to set for a final vote on Carswell's controversial promotion to the Supreme Court.

Zane Trace Renewal Levy On May Ballot

A renewal levy of 4.8 mills will be placed on the May ballot for Zane Trace School District voters.

A previous article regarding the levy incorrectly described it as a new levy to be voted on in November.

The renewal levy will mean no increases in taxes, according to Supt. Everett E. Park. "Loss of the levy would close the school," he added.

A recent inspection of Ross County schools indicated Zane Trace was failing to meet minimum standards of the State Board of Education.

Questions Taxpayers Ask

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. Is there a Form 1040-1 and if so, where can I get a copy?

A. The designation 1040-1 refers to the page number of the back of the first copy of the Form 1040 in the tax packages sent to all taxpayers this year. On it will be found general information on the new Form 1040. Other general instructions for Form 1040 continue on the back of the taxpayer's copy of the 1040 ad on pages B-2, E-2 and R-2, all of which are found in the package. The designations 1040-1 and 1040-2 were used simply for numbering and indexing purposes and do not refer to any form separate and apart from the 1040 itself. This same approach applies to other instructions in the package, which, again for indexing purposes, also have been given alphabetical and numerical designations.

Q. The estimated tax forms you sent me said to watch for changes in the law. Have there been any that would affect my 1970 declaration?

A. One change that affects all taxpayers is the increase in the amount allowed for personal exemptions. For the 1970 tax year, $625 should be taken for each exemption.

The Tax Reform Act of 1969 increased the amount for personal exemptions from $600 to $650 effective next July 1 when the necessary adjustments will be made in withholding rates. Since the change takes place at mid-year, the net effect will be to increase the exemption amount to $625.

Also, the tax surchage has been continued at a 5 percent annual rate for the period January 1, 1970, through June 30, 1970, or 2.5 per cent for the tax year 1970.

Some taxpayers may also find the new provisions on income averaging and capital gains will affect their declarations. Details on these provisions and the tax surcharge may be obtained by writing your IRS district director for Publication 553 or by contacting your local IRS office.

Q. Do I handle dividends from a savings and loan account the same way as other dividends?

A. No, this income should be reported as interest on line 13 of Form 1040. If your total interest income is over $100, list the amounts you receive on Schedule B, Part II, and attach it to your return when you file.

Q. I just sent in my return. How long will I have to wait for my refund?

A. If your return is accurate and complete, you should have your refund within 5-6 weeks of the date you filed.

However, should your refund be delayed beyond this period, wait 10 weeks before contacting IRS about it. This will allow time for any notice to reach you about an error or omission such as a missing Social Security number, W-2 or one of the schedules.

Q. Who can use the tax surcharge tables in the 1040 package?

A. the tables should be used for determining the surcharge if your income tax is under $735. For $735 and over, multiply your tax by 10 per cent to determine the surcharge you owe for 1969.

Q. Will IRS figure the tax for you even if you end up owing tax?

A. Yes. If there is tax due, you will be billed and have 30 days to make full payment.

IRS can only compute the tax where the taxpayer's gross income is under $5,000 which consists of wages subject to withholding and not more than $200 of dividends, interest and wages not subject to withholding, and the standard deduction is claimed. But the taxpayer computes his tax when he is claiming sick pay, moving expenses, or employee business expenses.

Q. Do you have to itemize deductions to get any credit for hospital insurance premiums paid?

A. Yes, you must itemize to claim this deduction. However, you may deduct half of your medical insurance premiums up to a maximum of $150 even though your other medical expenses do not exceed 3 per cent of your adjusted gross income.

Q. I pay someone to take care of my two girls while I work. Is there any deduction for this?

A. You may deduct all or part of this expense when certain conditions are met. These conditions are explained on page A-2 of the 1040 tax package you received in the mail.

Q. I'm over 65. Do I still have to file a tax return?

A. Your age entitles you to an additional $600 exemption and therefore you are not required to file a return unless your gross income is $1,200 or over. However, if you had net earnings from self-employment of $400 or more, even if your gross income was less than $1,200, a return will have to be filed and self-employment tax paid.

Q. Are union dues deductible?

A. Yes, these dues are deductible as an employee business expense if you itemize. For more details on these expenses, check page E-2 of the 1040 instruction package.

Chaminade, Lincoln Heights Champions

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Jim Turvene of Dayton Chaminade and John Hillard of Cincinnati Lincoln Heights, the coaches of the 1970 Ohio high school basketball tournament champions, may not be at their usual spots next season.

Hillard definitely won't be. Lincoln Heights, which whipped Sebring of Mahoning County 62-60 for the Class A Crown Saturday, will be consolidated with the Princeton district in September.

And Turvene did not deny that he would assume the full-time responsibilities as athletic director next fall at Chaminade, an easy 69-47 victor over Rossford for the Class AA honors Saturday night in St. John arena.

"It takes a lot of time being athletic director," he said, "but I love to coach." He now doubles as AD and head basketball coach for the Eagles, the 27-0 champs of the big schools.

Hillard wants to stay in coaching, which probably means he will not join the Princeton faculty.

"I don't know what I'm going to do after this season," he said. "This might open up some possibilities, but right now I don't know.

Hillard has coached Lincoln Heights 10 years and Turvene has spent seven seasons at Chaminade.

Turvene called his 1970 squad the greatest in the school's history, even better than the 1966 team that made Chaminade the first Catholic school to win the big school title.

Chaminade destroyed Rossford (25-1) with its well - disciplined offense built around all - tournament choices Ted Wuebben, Dan Gerhard and Terry Tyler. Wuebben also was named The Associated Press' most valuable tourney performer.

Greg Dunn of Boardman and Greg Weber of runnerup Rossford rounded out the team.

Greg Wilson of Sebring was The Associated Press' most valuable Class A player and joined Greg Reese and Greg Stemerick of Lincoln Heights, Whitey Varga of Mansfield St. Peters and Jeff Reisinger of Zane Trace of Ross County on the all-tourney squad.

Tyler, the quarterback of the top-ranked Eagles, led Chaminade with 20 points, Gerhard had 17 and Wuebben 16. Joe Creps' 13 was high for Rossford.

Balance brought Lincoln Heights its first basketball crown in its last season. Four Tiger regulars were in double figures against Sebring, headed by Lofell Williams' 18 points.

Lincoln Heights (23 - 4) put Sebring away when Reese, a heart attack victim last summer, sank two foul shots for a 62-58 lead and nine seconds to play.

Wilson gunned in 20 points for Sebring, winding up a 24-3 season.

Marquette Winner Of NIT Crown

NEW YORK (AP) — He is not of heroic proportions although his disciples call him "The Dream". All Dean Meminger does is win basketball games with quiet proficiency.

Coach Al McGuire of Marquette labels Meminger "my star"— and an audience of 19,500 at Madison Square Garden Saturday would have had to agree.

Meminger's star quality playmaking helped Marquette put away St. John's 65-63 to win the 33rd National Invitation Tournament.

"Every team has to have a star," said McGuire, flushed with the euphoria of his first championship, "and Meminger is mine."

Dean picked up the Most Valuable Player trophy for his work in the tournament, but was characteristically modest.

"The whole team contributed," said the slope-shouldered, 6-foot guard. "It was a team effort."

It was a sweet homecoming for The Dream, who played his high school ball in New York.

"I've been playing basketball for 14 years," he said. "There's nothing much else to do when you grow up in an area like I did (Upper Manhattan).

"The first thing you learn is that if you learn to play basketball well, it's a passbook to a college education."

Meminger said he was satisfied with most of his game Saturday, but "I couldn't get my game together in the second half. The St. John's trap defense nullifed me."

"Apparently not enough," added St. John's coach Lou Carnesecca.

Meminger was also chosen on the AP's all-tournament team along with Danny Hester and Pete Maravich of Louisiana State; Jim Oxley of Army and Rich Yunkus of Georgia Tech.

Jeff Sewell and Joe Thomas of Marquette; Joe DePre of St. John's, Mike Gyovai of Army and Al Sanders of LSU made the second team.

The two big D's — Defense and Dean—spelled the story of the championship game as Carnesecca later pointed out: "They're the best defensive club we've ever faced. In fact, I don't see a weakness in them at all."

McGuire felt the game was won in the first seven or eight minutes when his Warriors built leads to 16 points behind Meminger's well-executed playmaking and an awesome press.

Maravich, meanwhile, closed out his fabulous college career by sitting on the bench with an injury as LSU lost to Army 75-68 for third place.

Maravich, college basketball's all-time scoring leader, wouldn't talk to reporters after the game.

"I've been talking to reporters all week—and I've said all there is to say," he told one sports writer. "What are you going to do, ask me about the ball game? I didn't play. I've talked to people all week—I just want to walk out with the team."

Tony Esposito Gets 13th Shutout

CHICAGO (AP) — Tony Esposito, his ears ringing from the crowd's thunderous ovation, peeled protective gauze from his bruises in the quietness of the Chicago Black Hawk dressing room and held out his hand. It was trembling.

"Sure, I'm nervous every time I'm out there—see, my hand is still shaking," said the rookie goalie who registered his 13th shutout to equal a National Hockey League record.

Kickoff Returns Bring Only 2 TDs

NEW YORK (AP) — Kickoff returns produced only two touchdowns for American Football League teams during the 1969 campaign, official AFL statistics showed today.

One of the touchdowns was scored by the Kansas City Chiefs, AFL champs and winners of the Super Bowl. The Chiefs replaced Houston as the team with the best kickoff return average—26.6 yards.

UCLA Cagers Prove Selves Champs Without Alcindor

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Steve Patterson says UCLA wanted to prove it had a great team this season without Lew Alcindor. And he thinks the Bruins made their point.

"I think we established ourselves as No. 1," he said after UCLA defeated Jacksonville 80—69 Saturday. "We proved we were five guys who could play together."

Patterson, a 6-foot-9 junior from Santa Maria, Calif., said the Bruins have felt the pressure of playing in the shadow of 7-foot-2 Alcindor, who dominated college basketball from 1966-69 and led UCLA to three consecutive titles.

"It worked on the fellows, said Patterson, who played behind Alcindor, the past two seasons.

"You know, you come into a city to play and the newspaper headlines say: 'Alcindor - less UCLA.' When you see that every place you go, it works on you."

Coach John Wooden told newsmen all week long he did not think he had to prove himself over again without Alcindor, rumors to the contrary.

Wooden has had 22 consecutive winning seasons at UCLA and won the national championship in 1964 and 1965, missing out only in 1966, before taking the next four.

The Bruins coach told newsmen he believed he had five teams that should have won the national championship but did not.

Wooden also believes he will have an outstanding team next year since he loses only senior guard John Vallely. It is understood he has two equally talented young guards waiting in the wings to take Vallely's place.

Returning next season will be the tournament's most valuable player-6-8 Sidney Wicks of whom Wooden said: "I don't know of any forward in the country I'd trade for him."

Curtis Rowe, a 6-6 forward who made the all-tournament team along with Wicks and Vallely, Patterson and sophomore Henry Bibby, a 6-1 outside shooting guard, also will be back.

Wooden told newsmen the key to UCLA's latest national title was the change on defense he made in an effort to stop Jacksonville's 7-2 Artis Gilmore after the Dolphins jumped to an early lead.

The Bruins coach said it was his plan to play Wicks in front of Gilmore but have his guards attack the ball handlers and prevent them from getting the ball to the giant center. It didn't work.

Wicks said the Dolphins beat him by lobbing the ball over his head and set Gilmore up for a couple of easy layups.

"I couldn't move him anyway," said Wicks. "But then Coach Wooden moved me behind him and Steve Patterson in front of him and we sort of pinched him."

Minnesota Issues 15 Walks In Loss To Boston, 10-7

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

In the beginning, Abner Doubleday or, if you prefer, Alexander Cartwright, decided that in their game of baseball, four balls out of the strike zone would allow the batter to take first base.

It was to be known as a base on balls, a walk, a free ticket and a few other things by managers who've suffered with them through the years.

Bill Rigney, a manager who has done his share of suffering, sat quietly by Sunday watching his Minnesota staff issue 15 . . . that is 15 . . . walks against Boston. The Red Sox didn't need much more to beat the Twins 10-7.

Rigney, who developed a king-sized ulcer in earlier managerial stints at San Francisco and California, was simply sputtering after the Twins' 14th exhibition loss as against only one victory.

"I've never been in a training camp where so may have walked," said Rigney. "It's disgraceful, absolutely disgraceful."

Louis Tiant issued seven of the walks and Dick Woodson five. Four of Woodson's came consecutively in the seventh when the Red Sox rallied for four runs to break a 6-6 tie. Gerry Moses had a double and homer and George Scott a double and triple for Boston. Tony Oliva and Leo Cardenas homered for the Twins.

Slugger Jimmy Wynn ended his long holdout, agreeing to a $57,000 contract with Houston but the Astros looked pretty good without him Sunday, beating the Montreal Expos 4-3.

Tommy Davis' ninth inning homer won it and Joe Pepitone and pitch hitter Bob Watson also connected for the Astros. Rusty Staub connected for the Expos.

Willie Crawford hammered a homer and a three-run double, leading Los Angeles to an 11-7 victory over Baltimore with Oriole pitchers tagged for 11 hits, seven for extra bases. Steve Garvey homered and Bill Grabarkewicz had a double and triple for the Dodgers while Paul Blair delivered a homer and triple and Bob Grich three singles for the Orioles.

Joe Torre, shackled by a spring slump which had him batting 103, snapped out of it with two singles to help St. Louis past Philadelphia 8-4. His fifth inning single broke a tie and then Vic Davalillo cracked a three-run homer in the eighth.

Fritz Peterson pitched seven innings, allowing only a two-run homer by rookie Elliot Maddox, as the New York Yankees trimmed Detroit 5-3. Peterson singled in a run in the sixth and Jerry Kenney homered for the Yanks.

Dock Ellis worked seven innings and Chuck Hartenstein and Gene Garber completed the shutout as Pittsburgh blanked Cincinnati 4-0 on a five-hitter. Willie Stargell homered for the Pirates.

Proven Champions On Ohio Gridiron?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Bona fide state high school football champions will be determined on the gridiron next fall for the first time.

The Ohio High School Athletic Association approved Saturday post-season playoffs to determine the best of the new Class AAA, AA and A divisions.

In the past, The Associated Press has selected mythical state champions based on voting by a statewide panel of sportswriters and broadcasters.

Chamberlain Helps Lakers Topple Seattle, 121-118

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wilt Chamberlain's knee is healing . . . and now he's just a pain in the neck to the opposition.

Los Angeles' super center, recovering from an early season knee operation, played 42 minutes Sunday in his third comeback game and helped the Lakers topple Seattle 121-118 Sunday in the National Basketball Association.

Chamberlain scored 21 points and had 18 rebounds, his best effort in the comeback games.

Boston defeated New York 115-112; Atlanta spilled Detroit 130-126; Chicago walloped Milwaukee 129-115; Philadelphia hammered San Francisco 132-112 and Phoenix got by San Diego 130-129 in Sunday's other NBA action.

In the American Basketball Association, Los Angeles crushed Carolina 106-92; Indiana bettered New York 114-97; Kentucky stopped New Orleans 130-127 in double overtime and Miami rolled past Dallas 160-155.

The Lakers fought off a fourth-quarter rally by Seattle to finish their season two games behind the Western Division-leading Atlanta Hawks.

Johnny Egan, who scored 19 points, helped Chamberlain choke off Seattle's late comeback with critical scoring plays. Bob Rule of Seattle was the game leader with 33 points.

Rookie Jo Jo White scored nine of his 22 points in the final period as Boston came from behind for the win over New York, which closed out its season with four straight losses.

Boston, the defending NBA champions, finished sixth in the Eastern Division and were eliminated from the playoffs for the first time in 20 years.

ELDON MILLER

Winter Sports Banquet Set At Circleville

Circleville High School will hold its winter sports banquet at 6:30 p.m. Thursday in the high school cafeteria.

Guest speaker will be Eldon Miller who is in his ninth season as head basketball coach at Wittenberg University.

Miller has guided the Tigers to a 142-45 record and is the winningest coach in the school's history.

Arriving at Wittenberg as a student in 1957 Miller became a starter on the basketball squad in his freshman year. In his senior year, he was voted the most valuable player on the 1961 team which won the NCAA college division championship.

* * *

The dinner will be a carryin affair and everyone is asked to bring their own tableware. The public is invited.

The 1971 USGA Women's Amatuer golf championship has been set for the Atlanta, Ga., Country Club.

SPORTS Highlights

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Marvin Miller, the Major League Baseball Players Association's executive director, has charged club owners with stalling in the negotiations of a new contract.

Miller said Sunday, however, that he would not recommend strike action at the present time.

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The broken leg that sidelined Ken Harrelson is causing the Cleveland Indian coaches to take another look at Frank Baker.

And Baker is responding by showing them "eveything I've got."

Baker went three-for-three—including a triple—Sunday as the Indians edged the Seattle Pilots 4-3 in an exhibition game. He also drove in a run with a sacrifice fly.

SEBRING, Fla. (AP)—Ohio was well represented at the finish line here Sunday at the end of the 12 Hours of Sebring.

Dick Lang of Xenia, Ohio, was a co-driver of the Corvette which paced the Grand Touring class and veteran Chuck Dietrich of Sandusky, Ohio, handled the Camaro that won in the Touring group.

Talented John Mayberry May Help Astros

By MIKE RATHET
Associated press Sports Writer

COCOA, Fla. (AP) — "We like him, but he's only 19. We don't want to push the door open for him. The less ballyhoo the better.

"We don't want to put a monkey on his back."

The words belong to Houston Manager Harry Walker. The talent belongs to first baseman John Mayberry.

And so does the monkey.

For if Mayberry, the hottest prospect in the Astros' system, can make the club and hit with the same authority he has in the minors Houston will be that much stronger to challenge the elite in the National League's Western Division.

It should be remembered that the Astros, relying heavily on a young pitching staff, hung in the pennant race until September before fading. On Sept. 10, as a matter of fact, they were within two games of the top.

There isn't that much more needed to push them to the top and there's little doubt Mayberry could be a factor. A slick-fielding first baseman with only three years of pro experience, Mayberry hit .303 at Oklahoma City last season and displayed power with 21 homers and 78 runs batted in.

If he makes the club he not only would give the Astros another bat but free Joe Pepitone, acquired from the New York Yankees in a trade for Curt Blefary, to step into an outfield that could use strengthening.

While that may be one of the keys to the Astros' challenge, the other was forged with the run they made at the pennant last season.

"It gave them confidence," said Walker. "If you've been there once you feel better."

The five were the major weapons on a pitching staff that set a major league record by striking out 1,221 batters. But Walker found his second-line pitching and bullpen were far less adequate.

The club, therefore, has picked up every loose thread around and there now is an assortment that includes Dan Osinski, Jim Bouton, Jack DiLauro to go with such as Jack Billingham and Fred Gladding. How effective the second-line group is likely will determine whether the Astros are strong enough to stay in the race the entire season.

The remainder of the line-up is sound, beginning with veteran catcher Johnny Edwards, who hit only .232 but was important in the development of the young staff.

At first it'll either be Pepitone or Mayberry. Joe Morgan is at second, Doug Rader at third and Denis Menke at short round out an infield that hit for distance.

The outfield, with or without Pepitone' also lists slugging Jim Wynn, who hit .269 last season with 33 homers and 87 RBI; Jesus Alou, Tommy Davis and Norm Miller. The brightest hopeful appears to be Keith Lampard, a .288 swinger at Oklahoma City with 21 homers and 94 RPI.

It's enough to have Walker thinking pennant.

"I think we can take a shot at it," he said. "Over-all we should be better. Morgan should have a little better year. Rader will have another year under his belt. We hope Edwards will contribute more with his bat.

"And the pitchers are a year older."

That summation, of course, just about tells it. The Astros need moderate over-all improvement to be able to make the run all the way.

And there's a good chance they will.

Chaminade, Lincoln Heights Champions

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Jim Turvene of Dayton Chaminade and John Hillard of Cincinnati Lincoln Heights, the coaches of the 1970 Ohio high school basketball tournament champions, may not be at their usual spots next season.

Hillard definitely won't be. Lincoln Heights, which whipped Sebring of Mahoning County 62-60 for the Class A Crown Saturday, will be consolidated with the Princeton district in September.

And Turvene did not deny that he would assume the full-time responsibilities as athletic director next fall at Chaminade, an easy 69-47 victor over Rossford for the Class AA honors Saturday night in St. John arena.

"It takes a lot of time being athletic director," he said, "but I love to coach." He now doubles as AD and head basketball coach for the Eagles, the 27-0 champs of the big schools.

Hillard wants to stay in coaching, which probably means he will not join the Princeton faculty.

"I don't know what I'm going to do after this season," he said. "This might open up some possibilities, but right now I don't know.

Hillard has coached Lincoln Heights 10 years and Turvene has spent seven seasons at Chaminade.

Turvene called his 1970 squad the greatest in the school's history, even better than the 1966 team that made Chaminade the first Catholic school to win the big school title.

Chaminade destroyed Rossford (25-1) with its well - disciplined offense built around all - tournament choices Ted Wuebben, Dan Gerhard and Terry Tyler. Wuebben also was named The Associated Press' most valuable tourney performer.

Tyler, the quarterback of the top-ranked Eagles, led Chaminade with 20 points. Gerhard had 17 and Wuebben 16. Joe Creps' 13 was high for Rossford.

Balance brought Lincoln Heights its first basketball crown in its last season. Four Tiger regulars were in double figures against Sebring, headed by Lofell Williams' 18 points.

Lincoln Heights (23 - 4) put Sebring away when Reese, a heart attack victim last summer, sank two foul shots for a 62-58 lead and nine seconds to play.

Wilson gunned in 20 points for Sebring, winding up a 24-3 season.

Boston, the defending NBA champions, finished sixth in the Eastern Division and were eliminated from the playoffs for the first time in 20 years.

Winter Sports Banquet Set At Circleville

Circleville High School will hold its winter sports banquet at 6:30 p.m. Thursday in the high school cafeteria.

Guest speaker will be Eldon Miller who is in his ninth season as head basketball coach at Wittenberg University.

Miller has guided the Tigers to a 142-45 record and is the winningest coach in the school's history.

Arriving at Wittenberg as a student in 1957 Miller became a starter on the basketball squad in his freshman year. In his senior year, he was voted the most valuable player on the 1961 team which won the NCAA college division championship.

* * *

The dinner will be a carryin affair and everyone is asked to bring their own tableware. The public is invited.

The 1971 USGA Women's Amatuer golf championship has been set for the Atlanta, Ga., Country Club.

SPORTS Highlights

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Marvin Miller, the Major League Baseball Players Association's executive director, has charged club owners with stalling in the negotiations of a new contract.

Miller said Sunday, however, that he would not recommend strike action at the present time.

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The broken leg that sidelined Ken Harrelson is causing the Cleveland Indian coaches to take another look at Frank Baker.

Baker went three-for-three—including a triple—Sunday as the Indians edged the Seattle Pilots 4-3 in an exhibition game. He also drove in a run with a sacrifice fly.

SEBRING, Fla. (AP)—Ohio was well represented at the finish line here Sunday at the end of the 12 Hours of Sebring.

Dick Lang of Xenia, Ohio, was a co-driver of the Corvette which paced the Grand Touring class and veteran Chuck Dietrich of Sandusky, Ohio, handled the Camaro that won in the Touring group.

Talented John Mayberry May Help Astros

By MIKE RATHET
Associated press Sports Writer

COCOA, Fla. (AP) — "We like him, but he's only 19. We don't want to push the door open for him. The less ballyhoo the better.

"We don't want to put a monkey on his back."

The words belong to Houston Manager Harry Walker. The talent belongs to first baseman John Mayberry.

And so does the monkey.

For if Mayberry, the hottest prospect in the Astros' system, can make the club and hit with the same authority he has in the minors Houston will be that much stronger to challenge the elite in the National League's Western Division.

It should be remembered that the Astros, relying heavily on a young pitching staff, hung in the pennant race until September before fading. On Sept. 10, as a matter of fact, they were within two games of the top.

There isn't that much more needed to push them to the top and there's little doubt Mayberry could be a factor. A slick-fielding first baseman with only three years of pro experience, Mayberry hit .303 at Oklahoma City last season and displayed power with 21 homers and 78 runs batted in.

If he makes the club he not only would give the Astros another bat but free Joe Pepitone, acquired from the New York Yankees in a trade for Curt Blefary, to step into an outfield that could use strengthening.

While that may be one of the keys to the Astros' challenge, the other was forged with the run they made at the pennant last season.

"It gave them confidence," said Walker. "If you've been there once you feel better."

The five were the major weapons on a pitching staff that set a major league record by striking out 1,221 batters. But Walker found his second-line pitching and bullpen were far less adequate.

The club, therefore, has picked up every loose thread around and there now is an assortment that includes Dan Osinski, Jim Bouton, Jack DiLauro to go with such as Jack Billingham and Fred Gladding. How effective the second-line group is likely will determine whether the Astros are strong enough to stay in the race the entire season.

The remainder of the line-up is sound, beginning with veteran catcher Johnny Edwards, who hit only .232 but was important in the development of the young staff.

At first it'll either be Pepitone or Mayberry. Joe Morgan is at second, Doug Rader at third and Denis Menke at short round out an infield that hit for distance.

The outfield, with or without Pepitone' also lists slugging Jim Wynn, who hit .269 last season with 33 homers and 87 RBI; Jesus Alou, Tommy Davis and Norm Miller. The brightest hopeful appears to be Keith Lampard, a .288 swinger at Oklahoma City with 21 homers and 94 RPI.

It's enough to have Walker thinking pennant.

"I think we can take a shot at it," he said. "Over-all we should be better. Morgan should have a little better year. Rader will have another year under his belt. We hope Edwards will contribute more with his bat.

"And the pitchers are a year older."

That summation, of course, just about tells it. The Astros need moderate over-all improvement to be able to make the run all the way.

And there's a good chance they will.

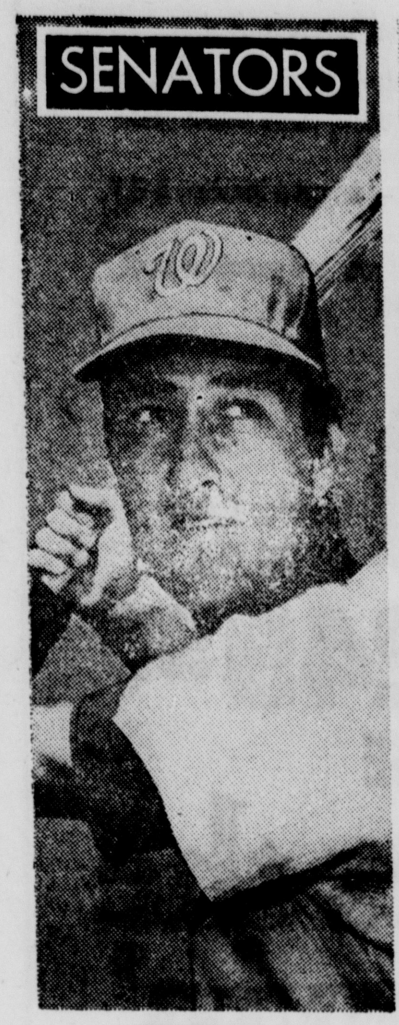
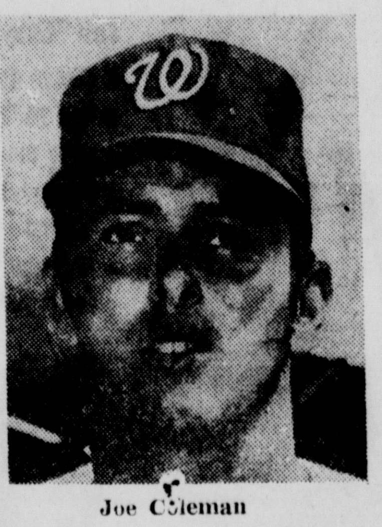
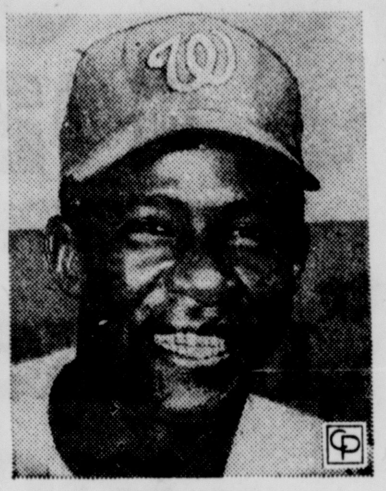
Senators Need Pitching Help



Ed Brinkman



Joe Coleman



Hank Allen

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. — Ted Williams didn't have too good a winter because he became ill twice after going on that African safari in which he shot water buffalo and other animals — but he sure had a terrific summer last year.

The Washington Senators, under his direction for the first time, went from 31 games below .500 to 10 games above, finished with an 86-76 record and Ted won himself the American League "Manager of the Year" award.

The Hall of Famer, a bit heavier than when he played ball and affable and cooperative again, says he'll have virtually the same club playing for him "and the biggest thing we have to improve is our pitching.

"I'm looking for Joe Coleman (12-13) and Jim Hannan (7-6) to at least pick up enough victories to go eight games over .500 and if they do we'll be a better ball club."

"I have to figure out, also, who my second baseman will be," Ted points out. "I'll be looking at Bernie Allen, Tim Cullen, Zoilo Versalles, Bob Schroder (from the Giants) and I wanted to look at Kris Krebs (Winston-Salem) but he broke his hand sliding into base here the other day.

"We're set at shortstop (Ed Brinkman who upped his batting average 80 points), third base (Ken McMullen-19 homers) and first base (Mike Epstein — 30 homers). Paul Casanova and John Roseboro (from Minnesota) give me adequate catching.

"Our outfield has Frank Howard (48 homers), Hank Allen, Brant Alyea, Del Unser and Ed Stroud. We're trying to make a first baseman out of Gene Martin (up from Buffalo) but he may need more experience in the minors." The Senators also have Lee Maye, who came over from Cleveland last year.

On the pitching line Casey Cox came up with 12 victories last year and Dick Bosman turned in a 14-5 record. Horacio Pina is on hand, from the Indians, and George Brunet, that much-traveled California Angel, who was 8-12 last year, is expected to help the pitching. Darold Knowles is another starter.

Ted lists three young pitchers, Mike Whitson (5-5 with Winston-Salem); Dick Such (6-3 with Savannah) and Ron Law (from the Cleveland chain) as possibles.

"We fooled all you writers last year," kids Ted as we talked in his new office at the training site here, an office in a palm-thatched building that has been tabbed the "Mai-Kai."

"We had exceptional spirit on this club," Ted adds. "And I talked to them a lot. I tried to impress on all our players, particularly the young, that they were playing in the majors and what a great job in life they have."

Despite interruptions during our interview with the Great One, Ted wanted to talk. He said that Mike Epstein "could be a real big player in this league." He didn't take much credit for improving Brinkman's hit average last year, but still says that "you can teach a guy to hit better than he does. I could have hit better if I had listened."

The Senators have a hot-shot on the non-roster and Ted was high in his praise of him. Name is Jeff Burroughs, only 19 years old, signed for an $88,000 bonus out of Long Beach, Calif., last year.

Dale Douglass, Don January Face Playoff

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)— Dale Douglass hopes to line his pockets with 20,000 pieces of green to match the color of his wrist in an 18-hole playoff with Don January for the Greater Jacksonville Open golf title today.

Douglass, a regular on the pro golf tour seven years, has packed his three tournament victories in the past 10 months and his putter—a golfer's most valuable club—is serving him well.

As for the green wrist, he's a little reluctant to talk about it, but admits it was caused by a copper bracelet his parents gave him for his 34th birthday March 5.

"It is supposed to have something to do with arthritis and aches and pains," he admitted. "I don't know about that, but I had a sore wrist and played poorly after winning the Phoenix Open this winter."

The trouble started to clear up at Pensacola last week, where he tied for 29th place and collected $997.

"I think the wrist is better because I changed my swing," he said.

Does he have any confidence in the bracelet?

"I'm still wearing it," he replied.

January, 40-year-old veteran who restricts his tour appearances to 20 a year and hasn't been a winner since the 1968 Tournament of Champions, does not have a magic bracelet but does bear a trademark—his collar turned up in back.

"It's strictly because I get sunburned," he said.

January roared through the final 18 holes Sunday in 66 strokes—equalling the best round of the entire tourney over the tight fairways and rolling greens of the 6,943-yard Hidden Hills Country Club.

Cage Draft To Resume

NEW YORK (AP) — If Pete Maravich isn't a high draft pick today by the National Basketball Association, it's probably a good indication the NBA thinks the LSU Pistol has reached an accord with the American Basketball Association.

Maravich and his father, LSU Coach Press Maravich, repeatedly denied over the weekend that Pistol Pete has signed—or agreed to terms—with the Carolina Cougars of the ABA.

The ABA's New Orleans Bucs don't think so either. An official of the financially troubled Louisiana franchise says the Bucs are still dickering for Maravich under an ABA agreement that New Orleans can sign him—if he wants to play there. New Orleans would have to compensate Carolina for the loss of Maravich, however.

The ABA conducts the remainder of its draft here today—starting at 10 a.m., EST. The league held the first four rounds earlier behind closed doors but most of the ABA selections have leaked out and the so-called Lively League has already signed four first-round picks—All-Americans Rick Mount of Purdue and Dan Issel of Kentucky, Charlie Scott of North Carolina and Mike Maloy of Davidson.

Kansas City's Scott Northey Bids For Centerfield Berth

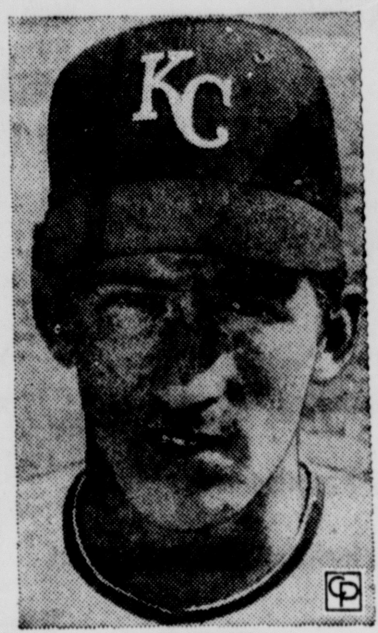
By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

FORT MYERS, Fla. — The only thing familiar about outfielder Scott Richard Northey of the Kansas City Royals is his name. Hep, he's the son of Ron Northey, who played big league outfield for 15 years back in 1942-1957.

Scott doesn't look anything like his dad, being a slim six-footer while Ron was a pudgy little guy who could swing a pretty good bat.

Scott and his dad are the closest of buddies but Ron hasn't seen Scott play except once when the son was in Legion baseball. Pop is director of public relations at the Iron City Brewery in Pittsburg.

Manager Charlie Metro of the Kansas City Royals says that Scott Northey looks great. Scott has had three years of minor league experience, has played 20 games with the Royals, and figures he's about ready to make the big jump for sure this year. Especially so since the Royals needed a centerfielder, which Scott plays.



Scott Northey

Then the Royals made a big trade with the New York Mets, and they picked up Amos Otis to play centerfield. That made Scott a bit "sick", as he says, but he still feels he is ready for the big leagues.

And a .327 batting mark at Omaha last year indicates he may be ready, too. He got in 20 games with the Royals at the end of last season and hit .262, while showing outstanding ability on the base paths.

"I'd like to beat every record my dad made," the freckle-faced 23-year-old told us in camp here. "Being the son of a former player makes me want to strive harder.

"It was my dad, of course, who took me around to the ball parks as a kid and I used to work out with the Pittsburgh Pirates. But he never demanded that I play baseball. The biggest trouble I have now is that 50 per cent of the time they call me Ron."

Scott was born in Philadelphia and was a sixth round draft choice from the Chicago White Sox in the expansion draft.

He didn't play baseball in high school because his school, Dormont, Pa., High, didn't have a team. But he was undefeated in track as a dash man and played defensive halfback on the grid team.

Northey got a $10,000 bonus for signing and after playing one year of pro ball at Sarasota in 1965 he was drafted into the military service. He spent two years at Ft. Belvoir, Va.

Since he came out of the service, Scott has played for Appleton, Duluth-Superior, High Point and Omaha, improving each year. He says he feels relaxed in camp although he is a rookie. "If you work for Charlie Metro he'll work for you," he says.

Married, Scott has been living here in Fort Myers. His wife is a nurse and working at a local hospital.

Andretti Is Winner At Sebring

SEBRING, Fla. (AP) — He used two Ferraris in doing it and for a while it looked as if he might be beaten by an actor, but Mario Andretti managed to win the wildest 12 hour endurance race ever run at Sebring.

"That looked like the end," Andretti said in Victory Lane when talking about his first car, a five liter Ferrari that went out with gear box troubles Saturday while holding a 70-mile lead with only one hour to go.

Slump - shouldered and near tears, he took over another Ferrari that had been driven by Ignazio Giunti and Nino Vacarella of Italy.

But the bright red car was running third behind a five-liter Porsche driven by Mexico's Pedro Rodriguez and Finland's Leo Kinnunen and a three-liter Porsche drive by actor Steve McQueen and Peter Revson of the U.S.

Then the Rodriguez-Kinnunen Porsche was forced out with a burned wheel bearing only 15 minutes from victory.

Third place was taken by a three-liter Alfa Romeo driven by Masten Gregory of France and Tonie Hazemans of Holland.

McQueen's Porsche won the prototype class, while the victorious Ferrari took over-all and sports car honors.

Northeast Rocked By More Snow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A blanket of snow reached from Michigan and Ohio to the northeastern states early today and travelers warnings were issued for the far northeast, where the snow was slushy.

Skies over most of the South, the Plains and the far West were clear, with temperatures warming in the Plains and West and colder air threatening to produce frost in the states bordering the middle Gulf Coast.

One to two inches of snow fell in six hours from eastern Michigan to central New York and eastern Pennsylvania. Booneville, in northern New York's snow belt, received five inches of wet snow in five hours Sunday night.

Light snow accompanied colder air which spread across the upper Mississippi River valley and the central Midwest.

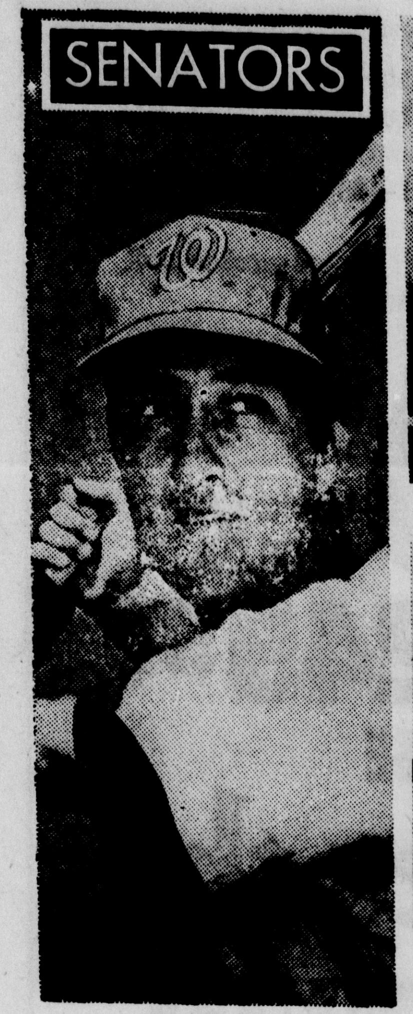
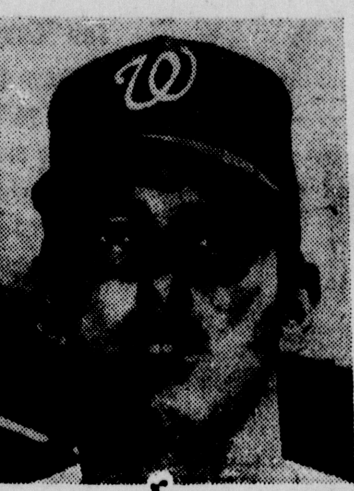
Senators Need Pitching Help



Ed Brinkman



Joe Coleman

Hank Allen

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. — Ted Williams didn't have too good a winter because he became ill twice after going on that African safari in which he shot water buffalo and other animals — but he sure had a terrific summer last year.

The Washington Senators, under his direction for the first time, went from 31 games below .500 to 10 games above, finished with an 86-76 record and Ted won himself the American League "Manager of the Year" award.

The Hall of Famer, a bit heavier than when he played ball and affable and cooperative again, says he'll have virtually the same club playing for him "and the biggest thing we have to improve is our pitching.

"I'm looking for Joe Coleman (12-13) and Jim Hannan (7-6) to at least pick up enough victories to go eight games over .500 and if they do we'll be a better ball club."

"I have to figure out, also, who my second baseman will be," Ted points out. "I'll be looking at Bernie Allen, Tim Cullen, Zoilo Versalles, Bob Schroder (from the Giants) and I wanted to look at Kris Krebs (Winston-Salem) but he broke his hand sliding into base here the other day.

"We're set at shortstop (Ed Brinkman who upped his batting average 80 points), third base (Ken McMullen-19 homers) and first base (Mike Epstein — 30 homers). Paul Casanova and John Roseboro (from Minnesota) give me adequate catching.

"Our outfield has Frank Howard (48 homers), Hank Allen, Brant Alyea, Del Unser and Ed Stroud. We're trying to make a first baseman out of Gene Martin (up from Buffalo) but he may need more experience in the minors." The Senators also have Lee Maye, who came over from Cleveland last year.

On the pitching line Casey Cox came up with 12 victories last year and Dick Bosman turned in a 14-5 record. Horacio Pina is on hand, from the Indians, and George Brunet, that much-traveled California Angel, who was 8-12 last year, is expected to help the pitching. Darold Knowles is another starter.

Ted lists three young pitchers, Mike Whitson (5-5 with Winston-Salem); Dick Such (6-3 with Savannah) and Ron Law (from the Cleveland chain) as possibles.

"We fooled all you writers last year," kids Ted as we talked in his new office at the training site here, an office in a palm-thatched building that has been tabbed the "Mai-Kai."

"We had exceptional spirit on this club," Ted adds. "And I talked to them a lot. I tried to impress on all our players, particularly the young, that they were playing in the majors and what a great job in life they have."

Despite interruptions during our interview with the Great One, Ted wanted to talk. He said that Mike Epstein "could be a real big player in this league." He didn't take much credit for improving Brinkman's hit average last year, but still says that "you can teach a guy to hit better than he does. I could have hit better if I had listened."

The Senators have a hot-shot on the non-roster and Ted was high in his praise of him. Name is Jeff Burroughs, only 19 years old, signed for an $88,000 bonus out of Long Beach, Calif., last year.

Dale Douglass, Don January Face Playoff

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)— Dale Douglass hopes to line his pockets with 20,000 pieces of green to match the color of his wrist in an 18-hole playoff with Don January for the Greater Jacksonville Open golf title today.

Douglass, a regular on the pro golf tour seven years, has packed his three tournament victories in the past 10 months and his putter—a golfer's most valuable club—is serving him well.

As for the green wrist, he's a little reluctant to talk about it, but admits it was caused by a copper bracelet his parents gave him for his 34th birthday March 5.

"It is supposed to have something to do with arthritis and aches and pains," he admitted. "I don't know about that, but I had a sore wrist and played poorly after winning the Phoenix Open this winter."

The trouble started to clear up at Pensacola last week, where he tied for 29th place and collected $997.

"I think the wrist is better because I changed my swing," he said.

Does he have any confidence in the bracelet?

"I'm still wearing it," he replied.

January, 40-year-old veteran who restricts his tour appearances to 20 a year and hasn't been a winner since the 1968 Tournament of Champions, does not have a magic bracelet but does bear a trademark—his collar turned up in back.

"It's strictly because I get sunburned," he said.

January roared through the final 18 holes Sunday in 66 strokes —equalling the best round of the entire tourney over the tight fairways and rolling greens of the 6,943-yard Hidden Hills Country Club.
